PRESIDENT IS NOT ALARMED

Negotiations With Japan Not in Acute Stage, Says Wilson.

HOLDS WEBB BILL NOT A VIOLATION

Frank and Friendly Lines Followed Give Hope for an Adjustment.

Washington, May 12.—President Wilson believes negotiations between the United States and Japan over the alien land legislation in California are not in an alarming stage but that the interchange of views thus far have been along frank and friendly lines calculated to remove the appearance of discriminating against Japanese subjects.

The president discussing the subject informally today took the position that the Webb bill would not violate the treaty between Japan and the United States. He intimated that Japan's protest was not founded upon a claim that the treaty would be broken in any way but upon the feeling that there was an effort to discriminate against Japanese on the ground of their alleged ineligibility to citizenship. The president revealed that the question of naturlization had not yet entered the discussion with the Japanese ambassador, but that of course, underlying the bill it was realized that federal courts had not finally passed upon the question of eligibility.

It was upon the basis that Japanese were not accorded the privileges of citizenship that the appearance of discrimination written in the bill had arisen and it was intimated at the white house that for the present the hope was that the legislation in California either would be vetoed by Governor Johnson or delayed by a referendum to permit smoothing over some features of the situation.

Frankness Prevails.

President Wilson endeavored to make it plain that the greatest frankness had prevailed between the two governments even to the abandonment of many diplomatic formalities. The conferences thus far between Secretary Bryan and President Wilson and the Japanese ambassador were described as being those of one gentleman to another. Intima-

PAYS A $4 BOARD BILL AFTER LAPSE OF 35 YEARS.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 12.—A board bill, 35 years overdue owed to a woman long dead, has been paid to her son, Edward McCutcheon, superintendent of buildings of Washington county. McCutcheon refuses to divulge the name of the former boarder, now living in a western city, who made restitution of $4 but gave out the following letter:

"Enclosed is four dollars which I have owed your mother for board for about 35 years. Circumstances which I thought or felt I could not control preventing my paying it when it should have been paid. Then I forgot it. Again conscience would chide. So now I have secured your address and trust it may reach you. Of course you will not remember me for you were only a child when I was with your mother. My name was ——. Kindly let me hear from you."

SAYS THEY PAID TO SEE HIM DIE

Birdman Beachey Declares He Has Quit Flying Game Forever.

CALLS ROLL OF DEAD

San Francisco, May 12.—Lincoln Beachey, aviator, will never fly again, according to his statement last night at the Olympic club.

"You could not make me enter an aeroplane at the point of a revolver," he solemnly asserted. "I'm done."

"They called me the master birdman but there was just one thing which drew crowds to my exhibition—a morbid desire to see something happen. They all predicted I would be killed and none wanted to miss getting it on it. They paid to see me die. They bet and the odds were always against my life."

Beachey read a roster of 24 aviators who have been killed when flying.

"Those boys were like brothers to me," he said.

"In Chicago last September Kearney's mother begged me not to teach Horace any more tricks. Kearney turned and said: 'Mother, I must be a top-liner. I must be as good as Beachey or take a back seat. I must try the same tricks he does.'

Three months later he was dead.

"The wife of Welsh begged him to

EXPECT TO NAB MEN HIGHER UP

New Arrests Promised in Latest Graft Scandal at Chicago.

JAR TO SPOOK TRUST

Chicago, May 12.—New arrests of men "higher up" in the police-protected clairvoyant trust so-called, are expected today. Three or more politicians and policemen will be in custody by nightfall, States Attorney Hoyne said this morning.

Barney Bertsche, ex-convict, former saloon keeper and politician and arrested as the "go-between" for the necromancers and who is at liberty on bail, was guarded throughout the night by detectives stationed about his residence. The state's attorney will place what evidence he may have against Bertsche before the grand jury when it convenes this afternoon. The prosecutor asserted he will show that several politicians and policemen received a part of the $500,000 alleged to have been collected annually from the crime and graft rings in exchange for protection. Mr. Hoyne declared he has positive proof that organized gangs of pickpockets and thugs pay thousands of dollars weekly for immunity.

"I am going to get the men who received the protection money—the men who imported the clairvoyants, pickpockets and other criminals to Chicago from other cities," said Mr. Hoyne. "There are so many angles that I can't say just where the thing will break out next."

The prosecutor said he would prove to the grand jury that Bertsche acted as "fixer" for many clairvoyants in swindling cases in several other cities where the "spook trust" has been operating.

DEPEW IN ROLE OF CAPITOL GUIDE

Former Senator as Pilot to Distinguished Peace Commissioners.

SHOWS THEM SENATE

Washington, May 12.—"And now gentlemen, we come to the chamber of the senate of the United States." The speaker was former Senator Chauncey M. Depew, of New York, and he was showing the capitol to the visiting commissioners who had come to arrange the centennary celebration of the treaty of Ghent. The party, which included Andrew Carnegie and other notables, had asked the former Senator to show them the spots with which he had long been familiar, so Mr. Depew assumed the role of a capitol guide.

"Is it much changed, may I ask?" said a British delegate.

"The senate never changes," returned guide Depew "except as to personnel, as I happen to know from personal experience. The only other change is that we have one new clock over the vice president's desk. The chamber is the same. Senators in the early days used snuff, and snuff boxes were provided. They have never been removed. There, gentlemen, is the republican snuff box, and over here is the democratic snuff box just as they were long before our time."

"Have you many rules?" asked Lord Weardale, another British delegate.

"No rules to shut off debate," said guide Depew. "A senator can talk as long as he wants."

"And when he talks too long, you call that filibustering, do you not?" ventured a Frenchman.

"We call it a nuisance," replied the venerable and polished guide, "and the

OFFICIAL WASHINGTON OBSERVES MOTHERS' DAY.

Washington, May 12.—With a fitting example furnished them by President Wilson, Vice President Marshall, cabinet officers and almost every member of congress, thousands of Washingtonians appeared yesterday wearing white carnations, the official badge of Mothers' day.

"The man who has to have a proclamation to remind him that he ought to write his mother isn't worth bothering with." So declared Vice President Marshall in commenting on Mothers' day.

The vice president explained that as governor of Indiana he had refused to sign a proclamation making every man write a letter home on Mothers' day.

"It seemed to me then that there was no beauty or sentiment in a forced letter," said Mr. Marshall. If a man doesn't write his mother without such a reminder he has very little manhood."

Mothers' day, as now observed, however, has the hearty support of the vice president. He declares that it is a beautiful tribute to the "best friend a man ever has."

WILL TALK OVER FREIGHT RATES

Roads to Discuss Proposed Advance With Commerce Commission.

IT MAY BE UNIFORM

Washington, May 12.—A conference between the inter-state commerce commission and representatives of the eastern railroads, will be held here Wednesday morning to consider informally a proposed advance of 5 per cent. in freight rates. It has been suggested that the advance be uniform throughout what is known as eastern territory—that part of the country lying east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio rivers.

Announcement was made recently by President Willard, of the Baltimore & Ohio, that application would be made to the commission by the fifty-two eastern railroads for permission to increase their freight rates 5 per cent. Precisely the form the application, if made, may take, has not been determined. That question probably will be settled at Wednesday's conference. If it should be found by the commission that there is prima facie reason for a consideration of the application, it is likely that an order for an inquiry may issue.

If the commission should conclude to hold public hearings upon the application, the probability is that the proceedings would not be held before next autumn as the commission now has before it more business than it can possibly dispose of before the summer recess.

ILLNESS DELAYS UNDERWOOD CASE

Bluffton Judge to Preside at Trial of Hartford City Teacher.

SYMPATHY WITH GIRL

Muncie, Ind., May 12.—The trial of Miss Doris Underwood, Hartford City school teacher, charged with shooting Otis Fisher, Muncie drug clerk, who, she alleges, wronged her younger sister, was delayed today by the illness of Judge Ellis. Attorneys for both sides agreed on Charles Sturgis, judge of the Wells circuit court, and he was to come from Bluffton this afternoon and start the trial.

Neither Miss Underwood nor her sister, Miss Ada, who are in Muncie, appeared in the court room this morning. Sympathy is largely with the girl and it may be necessary to go into adjoining counties to obtain a jury. Fisher's friends are supporting him strongly and, although under arrest on a statutory charge preferred by the younger Underwood girl, he declares he will be able to throw the blame for his troubles on others.

Miss Underwood shot Fisher at his place of employment the evening of February 17, after a quarrel over what he should do for Miss Ada. The girl was arrested by Mayor Tuney and taken to the police station. At no time was she placed in a cell and spent the night as the sheriff's guest while bond was being prepared. She resigned as a teacher in the Hartford City schools, after the shooting, although the school authorities granted her permission to continue. Since then she has been secretary to the mayor of Hartford City. Miss Underwood attended Indiana university and was assisting her sister through the Muncie Normal Institute when the trouble occurred.

FIVE MEN KILLED BY STROKE OF LIGHTNING.

Collinsville, Okla., May 12.—Five employes of the Texas Pipe Line company were instantly killed today by a stroke of lightning. Two others were probably fatally injured. The men were driving to the company's oil field, three miles from town, when the bolt struck them.

ANOTHER MAN HAD THOMPSON'S NAME

But Effort to Capture His Bank Account is Thwarted.

CLEVER TRICK FAILS

When another man of the same name got hold of the mail of Frank B. Thompson, traveling member of the firm of Kilbourne & Thompson, of this city, his clever ruse to get hold of the local man's bank account as well was thwarted by Cashier Theodore Wentz, of the German-American National bank.

A few days ago Mr. Thompson was at Gillespie, Ill., and sent a check for deposit for $10 to the German American. The deposit was duly credited to his account and a post card receipt mailed to Mr. Thompson. Within another day came a letter from Gillespie, Ill., for the $10. The communication stated that Mr. Thompson needed the money. Having remembered that Mr. Thompson's last deposit had been made from Gillespie, the amount asked for was mailed, and then another letter came asking that the entire account be transferred to the First National bank at Gillespie.

Mr. Wentz was surprised at the request because inquiry determined that Mr. Thompson still maintained his headquarters here, so the signatures of the first two letters were compared and it was easily seen that there was a mistake some place. The matter was held up until this morning when Mr. Thompson called at the bank. He was as much surprised over the letters as was Mr. Wentz, and said that while he frequently visited Gillespie on business, he had no intentions of transferring his bank account from Fort Wayne.

As Mr. Thompson failed to get a receipt which was mailed him on the $10 deposit, it is now believed that some other Frank B. Thompson took the post card from the office and thought he could make a little money. Proper officials have been notified of the attempted swindle, and the matter will be reported to the Indiana Bankers' association immediately.

WAS IN SESSION JUST 6 MINUTES

House is Marking Time as Senate Wrestles With Tariff Bill.

FRAMING COMMITTEES

Washington, May 12.—The tariff revision fight will be renewed in the senate tomorrow when the Underwood bill comes up for reference to the finance committee. The senate was not in session today.

The house met today to dispose of what some party leaders refer to as "chicken feed" with the announced purpose of adjourning almost immediately for three days a beginning of regular adjournments for similar periods until the first week in June.

The idea is to mark time pending the tariff fight on the senate side of the capitol and preparation of currency legislation.

Meanwhile the democratic majority of the ways and means committee as the committee on committees, will meet almost daily to frame the personnel of the regular committees of the house.

The house was in session six minutes. Even minor legislation failed to mate-

MAKE ATTACK ON CAR CREWS

Violence Marks the Street Railway Strike in Cincinnati.

ONE CAR BURNED; OTHERS DESERTED

Serious Clashes Follow Attempt of the Company to Resume Service.

Cincinnati, May 12.—One car burned, five deserted and left standing in the streets in the down town section and the crews of these six cars, either beaten or forced to cover, is the total result of an effort made today by the Cincinnati Traction company to operate cars on its lines.

An Avondale car while passing Hunt street and Broadway was suddenly seen to be ablaze. Several men in wagons driving along side the car had thrown a quantity of gasoline over it and then put a match to it. The crew, numbering ten men, deserted and were pursued by the crowd but managed to escape.

Two other Avondale cars passed through the center of the city followed by a jeering crowd, but upon reaching Seventh and Sycamore streets some one cut the trolley ropes while a combined assault was made on the cars by a crowd of strikers or sympathizers and several of the crew were roughly handled. The others hastily departed, leaving the cars.

Hurl Rocks and Bottles.

On Central avenue two cars attempted to work their way to the center of the city when a heavy wagon was driven directly in front of them and apparently became stalled. Before the police could remove the wagon from the track, a

STORK WAS BUSY AT THE LUTHERAN

Hospital Reports Show 150 Babes Born There in the Past Year.

THE ANNUAL MEETING

Among many other interesting things to be reported at the annual meeting of the Lutheran Hospital association this afternoon at the hospital building on Fairfield avenue, is an item in the report of Mrs. Louisa Rolf, the matron, showing that the stork has been a mighty busy bird at the institution. A total of 150 babies were born at the hospital between May 1, 1912, and the first day of the present month.

The report will also show that the institution cared for 1,585 patients during the last fiscal year. Seventy-six patients were under treatment at the beginning of the year, and during the last twelve months, 887 surgical operation were performed.

The average number of patients per day was seventy, and the average number of days per patient was sixteen. The report will also show that the average cost of patients per day was $1.44. The report proves beyond a doubt that the hospital is in good condition and is making progress in its usefulness as an institution.

The Launching of the "Mad Anthony"

FOR A LONG TIME Charles Kloepper and Joe Freck, machinists in the Wabash shops have been working on a latest model canoe, with the anticipation of having some high old times on the rivers this summer and during future summers. As the spring zephyrs floated through the open door of the shed at Mr. Kloepper's home at No. 1011 Delaware avenue, as the canoe was being built, the two doubled their efforts to get the work done. Both, of course, are employed at the shops so much of the time that the work on the canoe progressed quite slowly, but, finally, the thing was finished. Built along lines of modern canoe construction, it was, when completed a model of grace and beauty.

Then came the launching. Both hoped there would be quite a number of people around to see them start off, so they could wave their hats to the cheering throng and proclaim themselves as the designers and builders of the graceful craft. But, it happened nobody was near when they got a man to haul the canoe and the paddles to the St. Joe river. Even the expressman didn't stick around. The two were alone when they carried the canoe to the river and placed it on the water.

"Aha!" cried Kloepper, "Isn't she a beauty?"

"You bet," responded Freck. "Only it's a he, not a she. We're going to call it the Mad Anthony, you know."

"Oh, sure, that's right," responded the other, and the two stepped into the craft, seated themselves and started to paddle out into the stream. Both were as happy as in the days gone by when they got their first pair of copper-toed red-topped boots.

They carried the canoe.

"Say!" exploded Kloepper, "this is about the finest I ever—wait!—Oh!—Grab me!—"

Splash!—Swash!—Gurgle!—Sneeze!—Puff, and Blow—and, finally, "Where is she?—he?—it?" The thing had suddenly flopped over and sent the two headlong into the water. When they got their heads up into the atmosphere again, they recovered their breath as soon as possible and managed to capture the craft before it floated very far away.

And now they're both trying to explain how it happened. The nearest real information that has leaked out is to the effect that the clutch on the emergency brake somehow got tangled with the carbureter.

HAD LARGE BUNCH IN CITY COURT

Many Prisoners Face Judge on Large Variety of Charges.

EIGHTEEN GET FINES

Thirty-eight prisoners faced Judge Mungovan in the city court this morning, the most of whom had become involved in trouble from imbibing of drink too freely on Saturday afternoon and night.

Leo Carpenter, John Reichert and George, three young fellows filled themselves with booze on Saturday and proceeded to drive a horse which they hired at breakneck speed through the streets in the outskirts of the city. They were charged with cruelty to animals in court this morning, and each drew $10 and costs and suspended jail sentences of ten days. In suspending the sentences Judge Mungovan ordered them to keep away from saloons, as if they are arrested in any thirst parlor they will be forced to serve out the sentence.

Jacob Shaffer also got a big load Saturday night and wanted to slay a negro that he met on the street. The negro slapped his face at the time and in addition to this Shaffer got fifteen days this morning for public intoxication. Fred Hines, another drunk, who used abusive language on the streets Saturday night, also drew fifteen days. Frank Littlefield and Joe Riley each got the same dose for drunkenness. Phil Richardson and Charles Putnam did not appear in court, but forfeited $11 of their bonds which they had posted for their appearance this morning. R. H. Johnson was fined $5 and costs for vagrancy, and Tom Clancy was assessed a similar fine for raising a disturbance in a Calhoun street restaurant Saturday night. Tom Sullivan and Frank Kelly, two plain drunks, each were sent over for eleven days.

Another Nickel Plate Man In.

Al B. VanMeter, of 830 High street, is the last of the Nickel Plate trainmen to be arrested for burglary, and his case will come up next Saturday with the other four, who are being held to answer charges of burglarizing Nickel Plate cars.

Members of the local police department have found out the method employed by the men in entering cars to secure merchandise for their own use. When their train was stopped at some unfrequently place they removed the iron slides which support the bottom of the car door. Then they could pull the door straight out from the car for a short distance, so that entrance was easily gained without breaking the seals on the cars. The booty taken was placed in the men's lockers and on their arrival in Fort Wayne, the stuff was carried to their homes. Their arrival in the city was always after night. This game had been in progress for many months, and all of the men who are now in custody had quantities of various kinds of merchandise. One brakeman, supposed to be a member of the gang, has left the city and no trace of him can be found by the police. He left all of his belongings here, not even stopping to draw his wages. According to the stories of the members of the gang much of the plunder was divided up between those who were in on the game.

The Other Cases.

John Sullivan, Charles Kane and Sherman Keener were in court on charges of disorderly conduct. They engaged in a drunken brawl Saturday night in a Broadway saloon, and Sullivan, who was the aggressor, drew a fine of $10 and costs. Kane got $5 and costs, and Keener, who proved that he had tried to stop the fight, was dismissed.

James Reed, charged with surety of the peace, had his case continued until Thursday morning and he is held under $500 bond.

Charles Miller, charged with wife desertion, was bound over to the circuit court under $200 bond. The city court no longer has jurisdiction over such cases.

Gene Barto and Sam Panto, two forgigners, were fined $5 and costs each for disorderly conduct.

Ezra Barth, a driver for the Brookside Farm company, charged with embezzling $24 from his employer, was fined $5 and costs. A suspended jail sentence of thirty days was placed over him, however. His employers requested that the court exercise leniency in the case.

PICTURESQUE INDIAN MAID IS FEARLESS, AMBITIOUS AND CLEVER.

RED WING, WHO KEEPS HOUSE AND ACTS, TOO.

BY GERTRUDE M. PRICE.

Red Wing is the only real Indian star in the "movies!" She's young and well educated and ambitious. She rides like the wind. Red Wing is the dear little wife of busy, bustling Young Deer, the director of the Western Pathe company, at Edendale, Cal.

Up on the side of a hill not far from the Pathe studio, Young Deer led me one sunny afternoon last January to see his wife.

"Maybe the house won't be in just exactly American order," he said. "But you won't notice that when you see Red Wing."

I found Red Wing sitting cross-kneed on the bed, half wrapped in a wonderful Indian blanket; her raven hair falling in two thick braids, one on either shoulder.

"The most picturesque little maid I ever saw," I thought as she put out a very soft little hand for me to shake, and lifted her eyes from a delicate piece of fancy work.

Then we began to talk. Red Wing can speak excellent English, for she was educated at Carlisle.

She has traveled extensively. And, strange as it may seem, she is as used to life in a big New York hotel as she is to the back of a pinto on the barren plains out west.

She always plays the Indian character parts, or "heavies." She is so clever that several companies have tried to win her away from the Pathe Freres company.

"There's more money right down the road at the next moving picture place," she confided to me. "But I'd have to leave my husband, and he doesn't like that." I gathered from the way she said it that she didn't like the idea a bit better.

Red Wing's home is a delightful mixture of "Americanism" and "Indianism." She has a gas stove and a bathroom and regular dining room furniture, etc., etc., just as there might be in a regular American home. But her walls are dotted with all sorts of Indian trophies. Her portieres are wonderful Indian bead work. Her rugs are Indian and scores of her ornaments on table and walls are Indian, too.

Red Wing belongs to the Winnebago tribe, a branch of the Sioux Indians. She is very small and gentle looking, but she does not know the meaning of fear. She's been strapped to a runaway horse thrown down chasms and left in burning buildings. It's all the same to her and she speaks of it in the calm stoical manner of a genuine Indian.

crowd boarded the cars, rocks and bottles were hurled at them and four of the crew of sixteen men managed to escape bruises or cuts.

None, however, received serious injuries. Another Avondale car was stopped at Court street and Broadway and the crew deserted without a fight. The traction company announced that it would continue to operate the cars and further trouble is feared.

Imported Men at Barns.

The entire system has been tied up since Saturday afternoon by the strike of the employes. The company has about 500 imported men at the barns.

No reply has yet been received by Mayor Hunt to his letter to President Kesley Schoepf, of the Cincinnati Traction company, demanding that the company arbitrate its dispute with its employes. The mayor in the letter which is considered practically an ultimatum, said that he would begin court proceedings to place the company in the hands of a receiver and to annul its franchise, if his proposal was not accepted by six o'clock tonight.

Troubles Further Complicated.

Cincinnati's labor troubles were complicated today when the lockout decided upon last week by the building employes' association became effective. The employes belonging to the association began notifying their men at 9 o'clock and it was believed that the lock out would be completed by the time the day was over. Between 700 and 800 men will be thrown out of employment by the lockout and this is expected to precipitate a general strike of all members of the building trades unions, except possibly the carpenters and bricklayers. This will mean the laying down of tools by from six to seven thousand men. The difficulty is over the question of sympathetic strikes. The union men insist that the employers should sign an agreement containing this clause, which the employers refuse to do.

PLAN SORT OF LORD'S SUPPER

gressive lines" Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa, Senator Wm. E. Borah of Idaho, and Former Governor Hadley, together with other leaders at the conference agreed that the proposed convention shall change the basis of representation in future conventions and make other radical changes so that the party shall stand for "constructive and progressive activity in the affairs of government."

"Does the suggestion to reunite the party mean that those who joined the progressive party are to be asked to come back?" Senator Cummins was asked.

Sort of Lord's Supper.

"It means just as if I had said before that the convention would be a sort of Lord's supper and all those who believed might partake," replied Senator Cummins.

After the conference, which adjourned after being in session for two days, the following statement was given out:

"At an informal conference of republicans from eleven states held at Chicago May 12, 1913, it was voted that it be submitted to the national republican committee as the opinion of those present that a national convention of he party should be held this year as at an early a date as possible for the purpose of considering the expediency of changing the basis of representation in future conventions so that the delegates shall proportionately represent republican voters and not general population to the end that the will of the members of the party may be more accurately determined; also for the purpose of changing the rules relating to delegates and members of the national committee so that the primary election laws of the various states shall be recognized and also for the purpose of making such other changes in the methods of conducting national conventions and campaigns as shall conduce to giving the utmost possible effect to the principles and policies of the party.

"It was further the opinion that such a convention might properly and usefully take any other action desirable to reunite the party and to give assurance that it stands for constructive and progressive activities in the affairs of government to the end that the common welfare may be advanced.

"It was the unanimous belief of those present that the changes suggested should be made forthwith and that the national committee be urged to take such steps to such an end."

Named a Committee.

A committee composed of Robert Luce former lieutenant governor of Massachusetts, Senator Borah, Senator William S. Kenyon, of Iowa, W. F. James, state senator of Michigan, and James A. Troutman, state senator of Kansas, was appointed to draw up a statement expressing the sentiment of the conference. This committee drew up the foregoing and it was adopted. That concluded the conference. Senator Borah and Mr. Hadley both left immediately, each saying he had to catch a train.

Senator Borah said that while at first he had been somewhat skeptical about the benefits to be derived from a national convention this year, he finally concluded to join in the unanimous belief that such a convention should be held. Mr. Hadley who did not participate in the conference but came in today just as it was ending, said he was in entire sympathy with the movement.

Much interest centered about the significance of including in the statement the phrase about "reuniting the party." Senator Cummins explained that it "meant just what it said," but that no lengthy talk had been indulged in about "inviting members of the progressive party to return to the republican ranks."

Coalition is Sought.

After the conference of progressive republican leaders here today, former Governor Hadley, of Missouri, state that a "coalition of the republican party and progressive party is not only desired but is being sought."

Mr. Hadley explained that this end was being sought by the attempted reform of the republican party so that conscientious progressives who left the party last fall could rejoin it.

cut out the spiral. 'Beachey does them,' he said, 'I must do them if I am to get the money.'

"Charlie was doing the reverse spiral two weeks later at Trenton, N. J.—a wire snapped; they picked him up dead. I felt that I had murdered poor Charlie.

"A few days later his body passed through Albuquerque where I was with his widow and two babies. Mrs. Welsh became hysterical.

"'You made Charlie do it,' she said.

"I some time later sent some tickets to Mrs. Ely. She sent back the tickets, writing:

"'No—Eugene would be with me now if he had never seen you fly.'

"At Tan Foran last November when I heard the boys talking of trying the straight glide, I wanted to quit. After the first day I could hardly work. I was in the grip of fear—not for myself but that I would make others kill themselves. When I left the field I vowed I never would step into an aeroplane."

senators usually give the filibuster the benefit of their absence."

"Now, we come to the marbel room," guide Depew continued, escorting his interested sight-seers across the senate lobby. "Here's where senators meet their constituents who come to see them about this, that and the other. You come here and send in your card to the senator and he comes out to see you if he wants to. If he doesn't want to, the page tells you he has gone to the ball game, or something like that.

"Now, follow me, please, to just one more room. This, gentlement, is the room occupied only by the president of the United States. Always heretofore the president came here only at the closing hours of congress to sign bills. Years ago Washington and Adams used to come up here often, but no one ever did that since until now. President Wilson has revived that old custom and he comes up here three or four times a week to confer with the senators and members of the house.

"This room is now becoming quite even familiar now to senators."

"Now we pass through to the dome," said guide Depew, as he led the party along through the passages and eventually resumed his role of former senator from New York.

But one price to all at the Foster Furniture Co.

Fire starting from an overheated oil stove Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. Mensch, 3235 Baker street, damaged the room and furniture to the extent of $100.

HARDSHIP UNDER RECENT STATUTE

Hurry Up Trial of Charles D. Miller for Neglecting Child.

IS NOT SATISFACTORY

It was necessary for Prosecutor Harry Hilgeman to rush Charles D. Miller to trial in the circuit court this afternoon on the charge of neglecting a child in order to prevent him from serving a term in jail and this is where a new statutes works a hardship.

Under this law passed by the last general assembly all persons charged with wife desertion and neglecting children must be sent to the circuit court where there is sufficient evidence in th lower courts to warrant it. In this particular case Miller entered a plea of guilty and it is believed that if he is given an opportunity he will do his duty.

The old statute gave the jurisdiction to the lower courts and fines and jail sentences were provided for or it was possible for the judges to give the accused persons another opportunity to support their families and relieve themselves of the charge.

Under the new law they must go to jail and wait trial if they are not able to supply bond and the wives and children are deprived of support they frequently obtained under the old law. It is not always possible to give immediate trial and not only Mr. Hilgemann but Stephen A. Callahan and Frank R. Dulin, his deputies, are against the recent enactment.

Was One Too Many.

Ellen Flanagan obtained a divorce in the superior court from Ambrose Flanagan and said that he was just one too many to support. She is willing to provide for the rest of the family but drew the line on him.

Falls Down on Knees.

George Fosnought says in a complaint that a horse sold him by Abraham Ochstein and warranted to be sound and gentle, has spells in which it falls to its knees, that it can not pull heavy loads and that it was too wild for a woman to drive.

Four Will Be Sentenced.

In the next day or two Joe and Will Farnan, Lillian Hammond and Fay Martin will be sentenced from two to twenty years in prison for robbing Duvalle Walters east of the city last February. A motion for a new trial will probably be made as a formality but there is every reason to believe it will be overruled as the court has passed on all the law questions in the case.

Fifteen minutes were consumed Saturday afternoon in reaching a verdict of guilty and the jury took only two ballots. There was little surprise at the verdict as it was evident from the first that the state had a good case against the quartet and their contradictory statements on the stand served to convince the jurymen of their guilt. The women will go to the prison at Indianapolis and the Farnans to the Jeffersonville reformatory.

Notes of the Courts.

The hearing of the divorce suit of George Killen against Carrie Killen was placed on trial in the superior court today and is being bitterly fought. The first case was tried in the circuit court and a decree denied.

Articles of incorporation have been filed by the Wayne Pharmacy company with a capital stock of $10,000. The incorporators are H. W. Ginty, M. E. Dickson and J. E. Allport.

rialize and the series of three days adjournments was begun. The house will meet next Thursday and thereafter on Mondays and Thursdays until the first week of June. Many members have gone home with an understanding between the leaders of the parties that no legislation involving any disputed points shall be meantime brought up. In the senate some republican opposition has developed to the Penrose amendment to force public hearings by the finance committee. The development indicates that the plan of no hearings will be carried out although reference of the bill may delay it while the republican leaders debate for several days beginning tomorrow. Sub committees of the finance committee and Chairman Simmons continued consideration of protests and briefs to the Underwood schedules filed by varied interests.

Indiana Case Advanced.

The United States supreme court today advanced for hearing on October 14 the suit by which John T. Dye enjoined the governor of Indiana from submitting to the voters a new constitution drafted by the legislature.

The supreme court recessed today until May 26 without announcing decisions in the state rate or other important cases before it. It is understood an attempt will be made to decide all before final adjournment for the summer on June 9.

Will Give Kern Evidence.

Evidence of Conditons in the West Virginia coal fields which Senator Kern wants investigated by a senate committee will be laid before him tomorrow by a delegation from the West Virginia Federation of Labor. The senator's resolution for an investigation probably will come up at tomorrow's meeting of the senate.

WOMAN'S MEMORY FAULTY.

Belle Schreiber Under Cross-Examination in Johnson Case.

Chicago, May 12.—Cross-examination of Belle Schreiber chief witness against the negro prize fighter, Jack Johnson, charged with violation of the Mann white slave act, was resumed in Federal Judge Carpenter's court here today. Attorney Bachrach, representing the defendant had much difficulty in trying to get the witness to fix dates. She was certain about only one, that one being October 15, 1910, when the pugilist is alleged to have brought her from Pittsburg to Chicago for immoral purposes.

Professor Leflingwell delivered an illustrated lecture at Turner's hall last evening. His subject was, "Yellowstone Park." Music was furnished by the Turners' quartet.

200 DELEGATES IN ATTENDANCE

Congress of Mothers and Parent Teachers' Clubs at Lafayette.

PROGRAM UNDER WAY

Lafayette, Ind., May 12.—The first annual convention of the Indiana branch of the national congress of mothers and parent-teachers' associations opened here today with President Mrs. Frederick Hoke, of Indianapolis, presiding. About 200 delegates from all sections of the state are in attendance. Mrs. Orville T. Bright, of Chicago, a vice president of the national organization, addressed the congress on "the phases of the congress."

The delegates were supplied with badges and assigned immediately to the homes where they will be entertained tonight.

Mrs. Frederick Hoke, state president, from Indianapolis, arrived at noon. In addition to Mrs. Hoke, the officers who will attend are: Mrs. Charles C. Brown, of Indianapolis; Mrs. John E. Higdon, of Indianapolis; Mrs. Charles Butler, of Huntington, and Mrs. Frederick McCullough, of Fort Wayne, vice presidents; Mrs. Ernest Cooper, of Plainfield, treasurer; Mrs. Thaddeus Clark of Huntington, recording secretary, and Mrs. Walter N. Carpenter, of Indianapolis, corresponding secretary.

The local committee in charge of the convention arrangement is headed by Mrs. W. C. Crouse, head of the Mothers' clubs of this city. The program for the opening day is: "History Story of Child," by Dr. T. F. Moran, of Purdue; "Vocational Education" and "The New State Law," by Prof. William Black, of Indiana university; "Aims and Purposes of the Congress," by Mrs. Orville T. Bright, national vice president.

"Child Welfare" will be the principal theme of discussion and the subject will be treated in many different ways.

Every city of importance in the state will send delegations and many different federations, mothers' councils and women's organizations will be represented. The convention will adjourn Tuesday night.

AFTER MEDICAL EXPERTS.

Kenyon Seeks to Prevent Indiscriminate Barter of Testimony.

Chicago, May 12.—Legislation, which will prevent the indiscriminate barter of expert medical testimony, will be sought by Senator W. S. Kenyon, of Iowa, he told physicians of Chicago at a dinner last night. He asserted he would seek to have the American Bar association recommend to its affiliated state organizations the enactment of laws which will put an end to the medical expert as a witness in court.

"I believe there should be laws which provide for the appointment by the court, in cases where medical testimony may be a factor, of a doctor as a referee to assist the judge and jury," said Senator Kenyon.

"This referee could confer with medical representatives of plaintiff and defendant, and see that they confined themselves to the facts in the case. Such laws would be particularly beneficial to the poor man seeking compensation from large corporations for injuries. Under the present system the poor man has little chance against the experts of the corporation.

HAVE REACHED DETROIT.

Vast Throng at Convention of Conductors and Auxiliary.

Detroit, Mich., May 12.—Approximately 5,000 delegates to the biennial convention of the order of railway conductors and the ladies auxiliary of the order have reached Detroit to attend the sessions scheduled to begin this afternoon. Candidates for election to the various offices to be elected have opened up haedquarters and an active campaign is under way. St. Louis and San Francisco are in the race to secure the next convention. In addition to the transaction of business during the ten days meeting, an active program of entertainment has been arranged for the delegates.

STRATTON AGAIN INDICTED.

Long List of Crimes Charged to Captured Convict.

Davenport, Iowa, May 12.—Clyde Stratton, under arrest at Pekin, Ill., who recently escaped from the Leavenworth federal penitentiary by crawling through a sewer, was indicted for burglary, robbery and murder in Rock Island county, Illinois, today. It is claimed Thomas Jefferson, held for robbery of the bank of Sylvus, Dec. 17, 1912, has confessed that Stratton assisted him to rob the bank by beating the owner, J. Lee Crowder, who later died of his injuries. Pekin authorities today promised to turn Stratton over to Rock Island county.

CITY MARSHAL AMONG THEM.

Four Arrested in Plot to Steal Ammunition at Nogales.

Nogales, Ariz., May 12.—Cal Wright, city marshal of this town, Brick Williams, a bartender, and two private United States soldiers were arrested here early today by military authorities. It is charged the men planned to steal ammunition from the cavalry camp and the railway warehouse for the purpose of selling it to the insurgents at Sonora.

WOMAN PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Los Angeles, May 12.—Miss Emma J. Goodman, alias Josie Rosenberg, pleaded not guilty today to two grand jury indictments, charging pandering. She is charged with having bee nthe means of introducing Marie Brown-Levy, seventeen years old, and Helen Barker, sixteen years old, to George P. Bixby, the Long Beach millionaire, indicted on charges of having contributed to the girl's delinquency. She is in jail in default of $20,000 bail.

STILLWELL IS INDICTED.

New York, May 12.—State Senator Steven J. Stillwell, recently acquitted by the senate of bribery charges preferred by George A. Kendall, president of the New York Bank Note company, was indicted today for bribetry by the grand jury, before which he appeared last Friday.

ACCUSES ADAMS COUNTY OFFICIAL

Grand Jury at Decatur in Action Against County Superintendent.

ORDERS IMPEACHMENT

Decatur, Ind., May 12.—Proceedings for impeaching Lawrence E. Oplinger, county superintendent of schools in Adams county, were ordered by the grand jury today, which charged Oplinger with being insane and inefficient.

The grand jury had been in session more than a week. Oplinger's troubles began when difficulties in his domestic affairs came to light more than a year ago. His wife and children left his home in Decatur and returned to Mrs. Oplinger's parents near Linn Grove. She later secured a divorce.

SAYS WILSON IS INTERESTED.

Ohio Governor Talks Flood Prevention to President.

Washington, May 12.—Gov. Cox, of Ohio, discussed with President Wilson the question of preventing floods in the central states.

The governor told the president he thought it high time that congress appropriated for the development of the inland waterways and that the recent floods compelled preventive measures at once. He suggested reservoirs at the headwaters of the Mississippi valley system which could be used also to regulate the guage as well as for water power developments.

"I found the president very sympathetic," said Gov. Cox, "to the idea of flood prevention, especially at the headwaters. He is fully alive to the situation and has in mind a tangible, comprehensive plan to be worked out by army engineers covering the entire Mississippi valley system and we are very hopeful of accomplishing something soon."

CONFIRMS O'HARA'S TESTIMONY.

Cook County Treasurer is Witness in Probe at Chicago.

Chicago, May 12.—When the state senate committee investigating an allegation of immorality against Lieut. Gov. Barrett O'Hara, resumed its hearing today Wm. L. O'Connell, treasurer of Cook county, took the witness stand O'Connell's testimony was confirmatory of that given by the lieutenant governor on Saturday. It was through the former that O'Hara received his first definite information of the Maud Robinson affidavit. O'Connell said he was visited by Deputy Sheriff Sullivan, of Sangamon county, who is a friend of Samuel Davis, a liquor dealer, of Springfield, Ill., with information of the existence of the affidavit. In effect Sullivan's statement was that Sullivan curb the vice investigation at Springfield or the affidavit would be filed. The statement made no direct charge of immorality, but related circumstances which might be construed as supporting such a charge. O'Connell said he advised O'Hara to let the alleged "frame-up" run its course.

MAKES HIS FIRST REPORT.

State Fire Marshal Issues Bulletin on Indiana Blazes.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 12.—The first report from the office of W. E. Longley, state fire marshal, contains a compilation of losses by fire for the first week in May and shows the rate of fire losses in the state for a year at $21,629,400. The statistics are unofficial and perhaps incomplete, Mr. Longley said, because of probable inaccuracies in records received by him.

"At the rate shown for the first seven days of May, there would be annually 4,212 fires in Indiana," Mr. Longley reports. The fire damage for that particular week is estimated at $415,950 which would aggregate $21,629,400 in one year. There were approximately 81 fires during the week. Included in 81, however, are five instances in which a fire classed as a "single" fire destroyed many other buildings.

WILL GO TO CONVENTION.

Dr. E. J. McOscar, C. M. Niezer and F. J. Voirol will leave this evening for Indianapolis to attend the state convention of the Knights of Columbus They will return Wednesday.

MARIE CAVAN HAS TRAVELED FROM TENEMENT TO GRAND OPERA.

MARIE CAVAN.

New York, May 12.—Marie Cavan was born in a tenement on the east side of New York city.

Marie's first utterance was a not unmusical wail. A Neapolitan's hurdy-gurdy was wheezing in the street seven stories below, and his simian partner in discord was climbing the fire escape in quest of pennies.

Marie's wail, so goes the story, was timed to coincide with the last despairing gasp of the hurdy-gurdy as it finished "Down Went McGinty!" And Marie's proud and happy father declared, with a twinkle in his eye, that he distinctly heard the newborn utter the last line of the verse:

"Dressed in his best suit of clothes!"

Be that as it may, if any one had suggested to Marie's father, mother, sisters and brothers that she would one day be a great prima donna, they would have greeted the suggestion with loud guffaws of mirthful unbelief.

"At an early age," records the official biographer, "Miss Cavan entered upon a business career."

That's the biographer's way of saying that she got a job in a broker's office as a stenog. Her pay was $5 a week, and she carried her lunch in a phony music roll. She did not, however, chew gum.

She had never heard any good music. She heard the rumbling crash and roar of the elevated trains. She heard the wheezing, gasping hurdy-gurdies. She heard squalling babies, peevish women, angry men, wheels on cobblestones, clicking typewriters, the curt voice of her bald-headed employer giving dictation, but she never heard any good music.

Up to this point the story is commonplace.

Then came the turning point in her life. She visited the opera for the first time in her life.

It cost her a lot of money to see the opera. She went on short rations for a week to accomplish it. The gallary seat cost her one large dollar. It was "Tanhauser" big, booming "Tanhauser, hauser."

Then one evening she announced to the assembled Cavans: "I am going to take singing lessons."

If you can imagine how you would feel if your own daughter were to announce casually, "I'm going to join the harem of the sultan of anzibar," or "I'm going to buy a balloon and go to the moon," you have some idea of how Father and Mother Cavan and all the little Cavans, felt when Marie said she was going to take singing lessons.

She did, too. By and by Marie gave a recital. A bunch of swagger folks were there. Marie nearly died with fright, but she didn't show it, and she sang marvelously. And she made a small chunk of money, enough, maybe, to—Go abroad!

She went. She made that small chunk of money go a long way. And the Cavans at home, having recovered from their astonishment, had faith, and they helped all they could. And by pinching and scrimping and struggling, the musical education was completed.

Then Dippel heard her sing in Germany three years ago, and he beamed all over his face. And Mary Garden heard her sing, and she kissed the ex-stenog. And Dippel prepared a document, full of legal phrases, which he signed; then Marie signed it.

Now she rides around in a special train and has a maid, and a secretary of her own, and occupies luxurious suites in expensive hotels, and she gets an awful pile of money, just for singing.

CHANGES NEEDED IN INSANITY LAW

Medical Society Takes Lead in Plan to Bring Them About.

CORRECT MEASURES

New York, May 12.—Many physicians and lawyers throughout the country have united in a movement to consider radical changes in the insanity laws in the various states. The lead in the campaign has been taken by the Society of Medical Jurisprudence of New York city through its committee on the law of insanity, with Charles A. Boston as chairman.

The chief aim is to have the legal measure of responsibilty of those mentally diseased or defective changed so as to accord more thoroughly with the views of students of causes of mental defects.

In cases of alleged insane persons on trial for commission of crimes, most courts have ruled that the only proper legal criterion was the test of responsibility, consisting of the capacity to understand the nature and quality of the act and to distinguish between the right and the wrong of it.

This is considered totally inadequate by numerous doctors and lawyers who have made a study of the question. They assert that many persons who have committed crime and are insane have been able to grasp clearly the distinction between the right and wrong of such a crime. It is contended that a fairer test would be that of the uncontrollable insane impulse, or in other words, was the defendant a victim of an irresistible frenzy for killing?

While several states have admitted such a defense, notwithstanding the capacity to distinguish between right and wrong, others have expressed doubt whether there is any such thing as irresistible insane impulse, and, while admitting the possibility, concluded that to apply it as a test of capacity to commit crime would be too dangerous and difficult, and that in any event an impulse sufficiently strong to render the insane person governed by it irresponsible must generally be characterized by an inability to distinguish as well as thoose between right and wrong.

New York's Penal Law.

The New York penal law provides that "a person is not excused from criminal liability as an idiot, imbecile, lunatic or insane person except on proof that at the time of committing the alleged criminal act the accused was laboring under such a defect of reason as either not to know the nature and quality of the act he was doing or not to know the act was wrong."

"Has the time now come," Mr. Boston asks, "when the legal definition of responsibility for crime is doing injustice in the light of recent progress in the investigation of mental disorders and mental phenomena?"

It is pointed out that, measured by this rule, insanity as a defense is not inconsistent with self-defense nor with deliberation, and that there are within the rule no degrees of insanity. And with respect to this rule it is held that if the accused has the requisite mental capacity he is guilty. If he lacks it he is not guilty.

As for alienist and expert testimony in trials involving alleged insane persons, many of those interested in the work advocate the appointment by the courts of a commission to make an impartial examination of all persons making a defense of insanity.

Assistant District Attorney Frank Moss, who has had wide experience in trials in which insanity was the contention of the defense, believes that the testimony of an alienist in such cases should always be supplemented by that of a good all-around medical practitioner.

"While I do not agree with some persons that most alienists are mercenary and intentionally biased," he said, "I do believe that, as a rule, they work in a groove and they think in a groove."

Compiling Statute Laws.

To aid in the general movement for changes in the laws on insanity, the National Committee for Mental Hygiene is engaged in a project for compiling and circulating a summary of the statute laws in the various states upon the commitment, care and discharge of the insane.

Of the bearing of intoxication on the commission of crime the New York penal law says:

"No act committed by a person while in a state of voluntary intoxication shall be deemed less criminal by reason of his having been in such a condition. But whenever the actual existence of any particular purpose, motive or intent is a necessary element to constitute a particular species or degree of crime, the jury may take into consideration the fact that the accused was intoxicated at the time in determining the purpose, motive or intent with which he committed his act."

This principle is generally recognized throughout the country, either by statute or otherwise, though there are some states in which other statutory provisions exist.

The Indiana Crop Outlook.

Reports gathered with much care from every section of Indiana within the past few days establish the gratifying fact that both as to acreage and condition, the crop outlook surpasses all former records at this season of the year. Another fact gathered from the reports is that the crop damage from the flood conditions a few weeks ago, which it was feared would be very extensive, is confined to but a few localities, and is in no sense of sufficient extent to appreciably affect the result over the state as a whole.

The Indiana condition, also, is finding a counterpart in other states of the great central grain crop region, for the federal crop bulletin issued a few days ago listed winter wheat at 91 per cent. of normal—a figure never before reached in the month of May. Grain dealers, bankers and others whose business leads them to closely observe crop conditions, have all received reports of similarly optimistic character. A trip through the northern section of the state this spring discloses field and orchard holding out their richest promise for the harvest time, and a similar condition prevails in other sections of our state as well. Judged by the present outlook last year's record will be far surpassed in grain and in nearly all kinds of fruit.

To be sure, there is yet the possibility of blighting frost to cripple the fruit yield and remote chance of untoward developments that may harm the grains, but up to the present moment the Indiana spring crop outlook is about the finest of which there is any record. Little short of a calamity can intervene to prevent the Hoosier state from delivering an amazing yield in this year of grace. There is in the present crop situation ample cause for gratification both for those of us who have farms and for those of us who have not.

The state committee of the progressives is again quoted as resolving to insist upon the nomination of progressive municipal tickets over the state and discouraging all independent movements in the selection of city officials. This, it seems to us, is a position clearly in opposition to the declared purpose of the progressives to provide a government by the people instead of by the politicians. We cannot conceive of a more important step toward better municipal government than one which would permit the voters of a city to act as citizens and not as partisans in the selection of their municipal officers.

There is now before congress an enabling act which will clear the way for the direct election of senators in those states—Indiana among them—which have not yet provided the local legal machinery for carrying out the provisions of the new constitutional amendment. It provides for the nomination of candidates for senators precisely as the candidates for governor are nominated, the nominees' names then being placed on the tickets and voted for as are the candidates for governor. The passage of this or a similar law by congress is expected to obviate the necessity for calling extra sessions of the state legislatures to supplement state election laws.

Authorities at Indiana University who have been preparing to issue a volume upon the subject, "Who's Who of Literary Indiana People," have been able to find but 900 Hoosiers who have given their lives to literature. This will doubtless make necessary a revision of the popular impression obtaining outside the state that every Hoosier makes his living grinding out the best sellers for the bookshops.

HIGH INSURANCE RATES.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

Fire insurance rates in the United States are said to be ten times as high as in any other country in Europe except Russia. In Switzerland and some other countries the rates are merely nominal. This is due, in great part, no doubt, to the difference in risk. Where the risks are small the premiums will undoubtedly be small, too. Where the risk is large, all the competition there can be will not induce capital to insure property at premiums that will not repay the aggregate.

It is beyond dispute that the risk is far greater in this country than abroad. Europe has not had for centuries fires like those of Boston, Baltimore, Chicago, San Francisco, not to speak of New York and Pittsburg less than a century ago. Until recently our cities seem to be constructed to favor fires, with the result of big losses.

But because there is undoubted truth in that assertion affords no reason why agreements between underwriters should be used to make rates even higher. The business of fire insurance in its final analysis consists of collecting from the masses of insurers the money to pay the losses by fire, including the cost of conducting the business. But if the cost of conducting the business is boosted to about 95 per cent of the money disbursed to sufferers by fire, there is evidently some exaggeration of the already large cost to the public. The latest statistics which we have at hand show that the premiums collected by the fire insurance companies for the year 1911 were $368,000,000. The losses paid were $184,000,000. In other words, the underwriters of the country, for collecting $184,000,000 from the bulk of insurers and paying it out to insurees imposed a charge of $174,000,000 in addition.

There is another point that is almost self-evident. When losses are so large, certainly methods of doing insurance business that almost encourage unscrupulous persons to over-insure their property and then burn it up should be reformed. Yet recent exposures on this point have been received very coldly by insurance writers.

PRESS COMMENT ON PEACE CENTENNIAL.

"Worthy of Note."

Montgomery Advertiser: "One hundred years of peace between the two greatest powers on earth is something worthy of note."

"Also With France."

Washington Herald. "England, in celebrating this centennial of peace with the United States, should also do the same thing with regard to France."

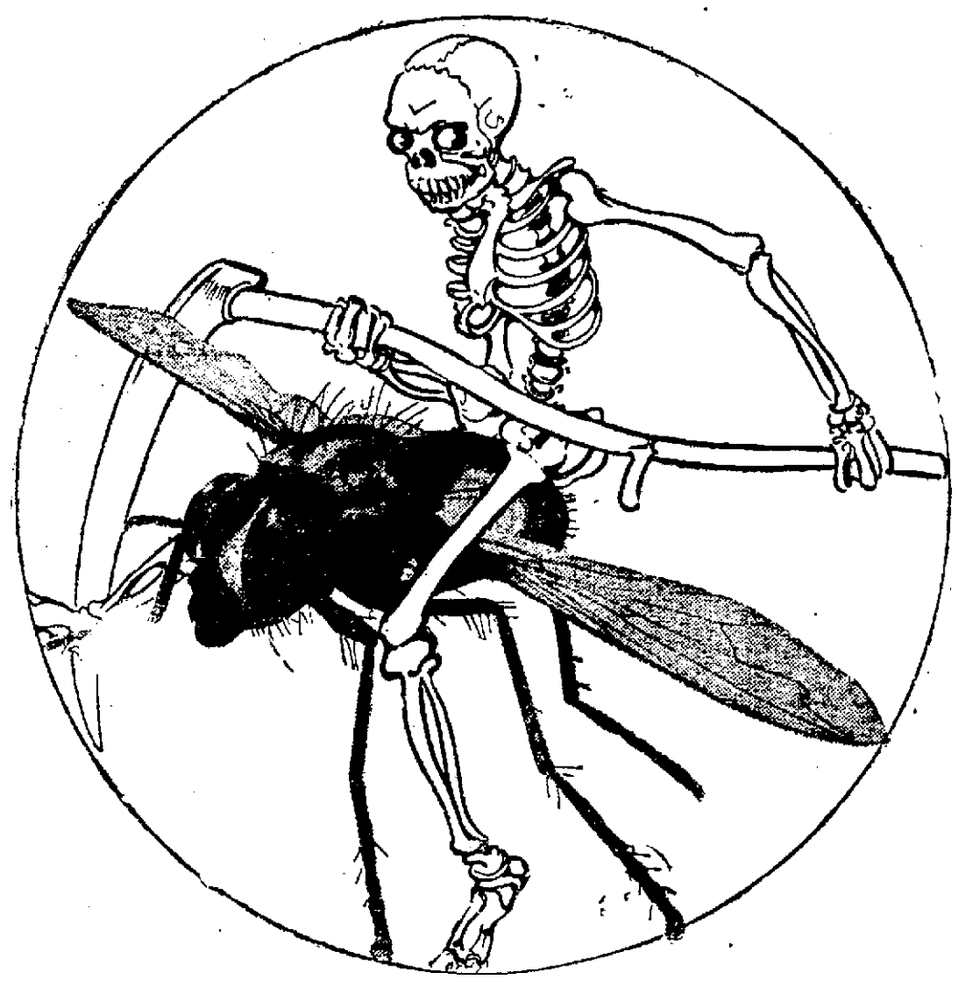
"Most Hearty Welcome."

New York World: "To that distinguished deputation of men who have just come hither to complete arrangements for the international festival of a century of peace, we bespeak the most hearty welcome."

"Happy Exemption."

Boston Transcript: "If Great Britain concludes to celebrate one hundred years of peace with America in 1914, it probably will at the same time observe its happy exemption for a century from war with France."

HEAD OFF THIS RIDER AND HIS STEED IN FORT WAYNE.



"Worth Celebrating."

New York Mail: "The prevalence of peace for a hundred years between two great nations is a thing well worth celebrating."

"Cause of Universal Peace."

Paterson Press: "While the conference is specially interested in arranging for the celebration of the hundred years of peace between English speaking people, its deliberations can hardly fail to be of great value in forwarding the cause of universal peace."

"Striking Significance."

New York Times: "It is certainly a fact of striking significance that after two bitter wars there should have followed a hundred years of unbroken peace."

HOW TO LOAF.

(New York World.)

Dr. Henry Lewis Smith, in delivering his installation address at Washington and Lee, declared it the university's duty to "teach future citizens to loaf wisely and to play happily as well as to work efficiently and study diligently."

It is to be regretted the doctor made use of the word "loaf" that carries with it suggestions of mere worthlessness. Hours of leisure and of rest are not necessarily loafing. It is just that fact that gives value to the doctor's argument for careful training in the use of the leisure hour. Few Americans know how to order life as a fine art. Those that work overwork themselves; those that loaf do not work at all.

In turning from work men pass inevitably either to recreations or to dissipations. Attainment of the first requires culture. Most European peoples have it. They enjoy their leisure hours with music, with art, with conversation, with recreative pastimes that cost little but bring big rewards. We, on the other hand, fall easily into dissipation from sheer weariness of mind when we have no work to occupy us.

Washington and Lee may not need the new enlightenment as much as some other colleges, but it is a good place to start.

Both of the young people had been employed in the office of the Kalamazoo Corset company, and the romance has been in progress for several months.

IN THE CITY'S CHURCHES

GRACE REFORMED CHURCH.

Mother's Day and Two Anniversaries Celebrated Sunday.

Mother's day was observed Sunday in several of the local churches with interesting services and the pastors preached sermons appropriate to the occasion. At the Grace Reformed Mrs. U. N. Guildin, at the invitation of the pastor, occupied the pulpit and delivered a most interesting and helpful address on "Our Mothers, and the Mother's Responsibility." It was an address full of grand thought, laudatory of the mother's influence on national life and the work of the church.

At the morning service the congregation celebrated the thirtieth anniversary of the organization of the church in this city and the twenty-fifth anniversary of the pastorate here of Rev. A. K. Zartman, D. D. In the upbuilding of the church Dr. Zartman has done a great work. He is now one of the two oldest pastors, in point of service in the city, in Fort Wayne.

PRESIDENT CHOOSES HUMBLE, UNFASHIONABLE CHURCH IN WASHINGTON.

"THE PRESIDENT'S CHURCH." THE CENTRAL PRESBYTERIAN, AND HIS PASTOR, THE REV. JAMES H. TAYLOR.

BY OLIVER P. NEWMAN.

Washington, D. C., May 12.—Another great national question is now settled. President Wilson has chosen his church home.

Hereafter the Washington city editors won't have to carry on their assignment books the standing question for Saturday, "Where will the president go to church tomorrow?" And the reporters won't be obliged to answer, "Blamed if I know."

The matter has been made a big public issue in Washington, causing more animated debate than the weighty questions hurled across the halls of congress by men who think the world is waiting with suspended breath to see what becomes of the tariff bill. Of course, the world may be waiting for just that, but as for Washington it's interested in other things, particularly the doings of the president.

And now, when the populace of the capital wants to get a glimpse of greatness worshiping, all it has to do is to betake itself to a little, obscure edifice in an unfashionable neighborhood at Third and I streets northwest, called Central Presbyterian church. Its members are mostly plain citizens of humble station. Its pastor is the Rev. James H. Taylor, heretofore little known to the public.

Thus the president administers another shock to Washington society. To think that he should affiliate himself with a church not celebrated for the social or official standing of its members, passing up the big, fashionable institutions!

Two Presbyterian churches, particularly the New York avenue and the First, have been engaged in a vigorous contest for the presidential business for months. Their pastors, Dr. Wallace Radcliffe of the former and Dr. Donald C. McLeod of the latter, are said to have used every effort sanctioned by dignity to bring the president and his family into their respective folds.

The spiritual and material advantages of each church have been depicted to President Wilson in their rosiest tints. The interested pastors and their flocks have gone hopefully to church for many Sundays and sat with anxious eyes on the door, awaiting the possible entrance of the president, only to learn later that he had worshiped at some unknown little church in an out-of-the-way corner of the city.

The first Sunday Wilson was in Washington it was announced that he would go to the New York avenue church. As a result the place was packed by 10:30 and the streets around it filled with a curious crowd. But Wilson didn't show up. He was at a church miles away, where his coming was unknown even to the pastor.

The Central church was founded by the Rev. A. W. Pitzer, a relative by marriage of Speaker Champ Clark.

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY

The Cheerful Aid society will meet with Mrs. Fred Eckart, 1815 West Main street, tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. James McMullen and Miss Marie McMullen spent the week-end in Decatur, where they were guests of Dr. H. S. Costello and family.

Dr. H. O. Bruggeman received a cablegram today announcing the safe arrival of Mrs. Bruggeman and son in Paris, France, where they have gone to remain about a month.

A party of men and women who plan going to Bluffton by automobile this evening to hear the Orville Harrold concert will be composed of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Olds, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Griffin, Mrs. Austin Stults and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wolf.

The Jefferson School Parent-Teacher club officers and the teachers of the building, including Prof. Miles, who is the principal, are to give a party for all the parents of the district on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the school house. All parents are cordially invited to be present.

That interesting and finished actor, William H. Crane, who will be seen in this city at the Majestic theater tomorrow night, has more than ordinary interest in Fort Wayne. For when Mr. Crane was young, or at least younger, he lived in this city for some weeks. At that time a Mr. Holman and members of his family and Mr. Crane were giving comic operas in what was then known as the Colerick opera house. Mr. Crane was the big bass voice of the opera company, and he delights in recalling the pleasant experiences and acquaintances of that time. Mr. Crane will be seen in the comedy, "The Senator Keeps House," at the Majestic theater tomorrow night. Mr. Crane is just rounding up fifty years of work on the stage.

GIRLS IMPRISON BURGLAR.

Hold Intruder Half Hour, But Man Finally Escapes Police.

Brazil, Ind., May 12.—Lela Thomas, Louise Lindsey and Bernice Acree fought for half an hour with a burglar at the home of Col. W. T. Brinkerhoff in this city last night in an effort to keep the man a prisoner in a room while they summoned the police. The man entered the home through a second-story window after climbing over the front porch. The girls were at home alone and they cleverly managed to get him in a room. Two attempted to hold the door while the third summoned the police. The police mistook the name given and rushed to the wrong house and the burglar finally managed to push the door out and make his escape. Nothing was stolen.

UNCLE SAM WILL PAY BILL.

Nearly $1,000,000 for Relief Extended to Flood Sufferers.

Washington, May 12.—Congress soon will be called upon to pay a bill of nearly $1,000,000 for food, clothing and shelter and medical service supplied by the army and navy to the flood sufferers in the Ohio and Mississippi valley recently. Secretary Garrison is preparing a deficiency estimate which must be allowed during the present session as the army funds have been so depleted that unless they are reimbursed the entire military service will be tied up until July 1.

NO EXPLANATION MADE.

Disposition of $10,800 Strike Relief Fund Unaccounted, Says Finding.

Boston, Mass., May 12.—No satisfactory explanation of the disposition of $10,800 out of a total of more than $68,000 subscribed for the benefit of the striking operatives and their families during the textile strike at Lawrence a year ago, has been made, according to the finding today of Winfield S. Slocum, who as master, investigated the strike expenditures.

Spend your money in Fort Wayne where you make it. A town good enough to live in, is good enough to trade in. Don't forget that the Foster Furniture Company undersells all of its competitors—quality considered—upon Furniture, Carpets and general House Furnishings. But if you think otherwise, buy of one of their competitors—don't send your money out of town.

Crawfordsville, Ind., May 12.—Nearly 1,000 visitors are expected to arrive in Crawfordsville late Tuesday for the annual grand conclave of Knights Templars of Indiana, which will open Wednesday morning.

The meeting will be the second ever held outside of Indianapolis and great preparations have been made by Crawfordsville commandery, No. 25, for the entertainment of its guests. A professional decorator has been in the city for the last week and has assisted the commandery and merchants of the city in their arrangements.

The conclave will open Wednesday morning, but the first event of the meeting will be held Tuesday evening, when a banquet will be given at the Crawford hotel for the Past Grand Commanders' association.

Wednesday will be the big day of the gathering. Details from the Crawfordsville commandery, with bands, will meet the visitors and escort them to the Masonic Temple. Grand commandery officers will view the parade from the temple. Between 700 and 1,000 swords are expected to be in line. At 2 o'clock, following the parade, Rapier commandery, No. 1, of Indianapolis, will give an exhibition drill on Washington street, in front of the temple.

At 2:30 Wednesday afternoon the Grand commandery will convene in the asylum of Crawfordsville. The address of welcome will be delivered by Emerson E. Ballard, a past eminent commander of Crawfordsville, and the right eminent commander, Charles M. Zion, of Lebanon, will respond for the visitors.

An automobile trip to the Crawfordsville Country club, at Water Babble, formerly the summer home of Gen. Lew Wallace, will be a feature of the afternoon. The reception and grand ball will be held in the temple Wednesday evening.

The closing session of the grand commandery will be held Thursday morning. While the knights are in session, the ladies will be tendered an auto ride about the city.

The delegation from Indianapolis will number 100 men. Muncie will have sixty men and a band in line and the Lafayette knights will be headed by the Purdue band. Former Governor Durbin will lead the visitors from Anderson. Each commandery in the state will have three representatives in the conclave in addition to the large number of visitors.

CRIMINAL ESCAPES IN AUTO.

Leaps From Car and Stabs New York Man in the Back.

New York, May 12.—The automobile served as a vehicle for the escape of criminals here again today, when some member of a motor party, including five men and two women, leaped from the car in the Bronx and stabbed Frederick Newman in the back. Newman, a photo-engraver, 22 years old, was taken to a hospital in a serious condition. Although he declared he was an innocent passer-by, his companions admitted he had shouted something to the women in the car, angering the men. The chauffeur sent his car off at top speed after the stabbing, and although a policeman peppered bullets at the party, it escaped.

WHO WILL GET MONEY?

Law Does Not Provide for Disposition of Funds Left by Crook.

Who will get the $36.80 and the two watches left by a fellow giving the name of Clarence Morgan at the time of his arrest on Saturday night? It's pretty sure that he will not call for the money or the timepieces as he evidently wants little to do with the police. This he demonstrated by escaping from headquarters, where he had been taken for examination.

It is charged that he worked a short change racket on Albert Brademeyer, a new clerk at the Alter cigar store, and he was picked up by Detective Sergeant Immel after he had been pointed out by Oscar Schlebecker. While the detective was conferring with Capt. Martin Rundell Morgan saw his chance to get out, and he beat it.

No provision is made in the statutes for the disposal of money and jewelry left by thieves and nobody knows just what to do with it.

NEW YORK IS CLEARING UP.

City Undertakes to Complete Big Job Within the Week.

New York, May 12—The great cleansing of New York city began today and before the week-end the health department, with the co-operation of householders, expects to have the metropolis swept and scrubbed from end to end, indoors and outdoors, from sub-basements to the garrets of the tallest skyscrapers. Two months of careful planning and preparation for the clean-up week have included the distribution of 1,250,000 notices by the health department, 700,000 notices in all languages by the Babies' Welfare association and other civic and social organizations, 300,000 circulars by life insurance companies, the posting of notices in 20,000 stores by the housewives' league, and the personal activities of 300 inspectors of the health department.

tions that the Japanese protest itself was couched neither in vigorous nor aggressive language but was formal and friendly in character, came from the president himself during his talk today and it was pointed out that the phrase "a very earnest protest" employed by Secretary Bryan in his message to Governor Johnson was the description of the note which the American government had entertained rather than the emphasis of the Japanese ambassador. The president was disposed to talk freely on the subject and appeared confident that a satisfactory adjustment would be accomplished.

What It Indicates.

The face that Secretary Bryan has addressed an appeal to Governor Johnson, of California, to veto the anti-alien land law, inasmuch as the governor had unofficially, at least, repeatedly declared his purpose to sign the bill as it passed the legislature, is taken in official circles here as indicating either that some powerful influences have been brought to bear upon the governor in the interest of delay, or, and more probably, that the Wilson administration is perfecting its record.

In this action there may be a double purpose. First to satisfy Japan that the federal government has done all it can to prevent the legislation under its constitutional limitations, of which many diplomats contend Japan should have been aware when it entered into treaty relations and, secondly, to place upon the state authorities of California the responsibility for any serious outcome of the alien land legislation. It is expected that Governor Johnson's reply will be forthcoming today or tomorrow. If he yields to Secretary Bryan's appeal the element of urgency will be removed as Japanese land owners in California will not be in immediate danger of loss of their property, and the state department can at its leisure embark upon negotiations with the Japanese embassy for a new treaty to replace that of 1911 and provide some permanent means of adjustment of the rights of the citizens of one country resident in the other.

Should Governor Johnson decide to sign the bill, notwithstanding federal opposition, legal proceedings are almost certain to follow the first attempt by the California authorities to escheat the property of the Japanese land holders.

Levering Jones, of Philadelphia. Mr. Barrett spent considerable time at Atlantic City.

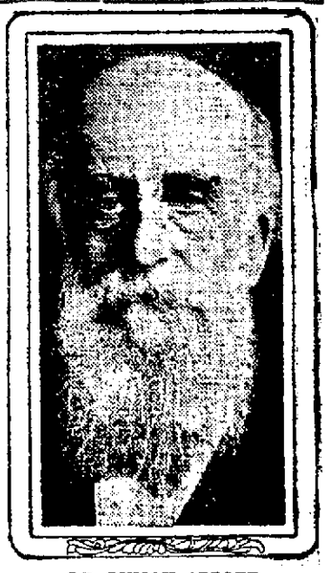
Was Ousted from the Peace Society



DR LYMAN ABBOTT.

This is Old Dr. Lyman Abbott, who has just been declared a foe of peace. He was one of the vice presidents of the Peace society which met in St. Louis recently. Because he had signed a petition of the Army and Navy league to congress asking an increase of the navy, he was expelled from the society. Dr. Abbott is the head of the "Outlook" and he is probably as much of a peace man as his contributing editor, T. Roosevelt. He says he does not believe the way to bring about peace is to be unprepared for war.

Mr. Taylor is a banker and a prominent citizen of Hamilton.

NEW AMATEUR RECORD.

London, May 12.—A new world's amateur running record for fifty miles was made today at the Stamford Bridge athletic grounds by E. W. Lloyd, who ran the distance in 6 hours 13 minutes 55 seconds. The old record was made by J. E. Bacon in 1885, and was four minutes 28 1-5 seconds slower than Lloyd's time today.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA CONCERT.

Miss Mathilde Heuchling, of Chicago, Will Be Contralto Soloist.

The Fort Wayne Symphony orchestra will give its last concert of the season Monday, May 19th, at the Majestic theater. The orchestra consists of over 50 musicians who endeavor to give to the public the very best in music and who by continual practice try to perfect themselves and do justice to the class of music which the orchestra is playing. Orchestra compositions of course should be played by an orchestra and while such works may sound very well played on the piano, four hands, or two pianos, 8 hands, still the orchestral effects can be produced only by an orchestra with complete instrumentation. For the music lovers who have heard these compositions on the piano there is a chance to hear them played by an orchestra, and new ideas are gained thereby. The orchestra will play a large number of compositions, the program to be announced later, and the soloist of the evening will be Miss Mathilde Heuchling from Chicago.

Miss Heuchling was born and raised in Fort Wayne and possesses a contralto voice of rare quality. She has filled choir positions in New York, where she was for three years contralto soloist at Hanson Place Baptist church, Brooklyn, and at the Jewish Temple at 55th street and Lexington avenue, Manhattan, and is now soloist at Isaiah Temple in Chicago. She has appeared in concert frequently and undertook several concert tours which took her to all large eastern and southern cities. She has many friends here and her appearance in concert will be welcomed by them.

REAL FASHIONS ON REAL PEOPLE

American Women in Paris Do Not Wear the Atrocities of Garb Parisian Dressmakers Send Over Here.

This picture was taken at the Longchamps races near Paris and show the Duchess of Marlborough in a blue satin gown, with the skirt moderately narrow and a slight "cut up" in the front. Her coat is of blue matlesse with small black satin revers. A white blouse and a small black hat complete the costume.

Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt is the second wife of the Duchess' father, her own mother being Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, who is now in England.

It will be noticed that Mrs. Vanderbilt is in mourning. Her son was killed by an automobile less than a year ago, and her costume is of black crepe de chine trimmed with pleated revers of dull silk.

Fashion Decrees Pockets for "Her!"

Here you have them! Pockets, real pockets!!

Martia Armand has just sent over from Paris a tailored suit of striped gray suede cloth. The skirt is perfectly plain and fitted with pockets. The short coat embroidered vest is belted with patent leather. Almost all women, young and old, will welcome the comfort of the pockets.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

Wm. H. Crane Comes Tomorrow in "The Senator Keeps House.

William H. Crane will be seen tomorrow evening in his comedy success, "The Senator Keeps House," with which he made a real hit during a run of four months at the Garrick theater in New York city last season. The piece is a typical Crane offering and caught on from the first night that it was brought out. It is especially a happy choice for this tour, as it is to set Mr. Crane forth amidst congenial surroundings for what promises to be his most notable success upon the stage. A contributory factor is the announcement that the tour marks the fiftieth year that Mr. Crane has been upon the stage, and his visit will be commemorative of that event.

Martha Morton, who wrote several of Crane's greatest successes in past seasons, contributed "The Senator Keeps House" to his repertoire. Joseph Brooks, perhaps the best known producing manager in America, will direct the tour. The sentiment that prompts his interest in the engagement dates back to the time when Brooks was beginning to develop as a theatrical factor and directed the first starring tour of the then but little known comedian. It was under his skilled guidance that Crane grew into such stellar prominence and gave him his assured position of the present time, and it was most natural that the two partners and friends would be mutually interested in this splendid undertaking.

AT THE EMPRESS

One of the most unique and altogether delightful vaudeville offerings of a decade is that called "Dorothy's Playmates" appearing as the headline feature at the Empress theater this week. It is so novel, so clever and refreshingly clean and wholesome that it at once appeals to the adult, and then the next instant think of some child he must have seen it. Like the old time circus, this act was built for the amusement of children, but time has developed the fact that the grown up child is its best patron. "A musical fantasy" aptly describes this pretty little number, employing a cast of ten people. The story is a commonplace one, as told in dialogue and song. A little girl has lost her pet feline, "Pinky," and has wandered to "Petland" in search of it, only to find that all stray pets finally wind up in this strange land. She finds "Pinky," and also a dog, parrot, elephant, teddy bear, Buster Browns and hosts of others dear to the children. All the various animals are impersonated by men and the cleverness with which this work is done, is what will appeal strongly to the adult mind. The man in the cat's togs is simply wonderful. It is pretty certain that no child will miss seeing this act some time during the week, and Manager Crull, to see that the little orphans are not overlooked, has issued an invitation to the little charges in the different institutions of the city to be the guests of the theater on Saturday afternoon.

The rest of the Empress show is really enjoyable. Sager Midgley and company offer a laughable skit, centering around a bibulous old Colonels tangle in front of a mirror. The valet has broken the big glass and in order to escape censure stands behind it "made up" to pass as the colonel's double and he makes the latter think the glass is furnishing a reflection.

Mort Sharp, entertains with songs, and burlesque imitations garnering many laughs. Manning and Ford sing and dance acceptably and the Four Readings amaze with feats of hand to hand balancing.

AT THE LYRIC.

At the Lyric today the management announces a big double show, and you can take it from the "Movie" reporter that it is some show, for there is besides the big two reel feature, "Children of St. Anne," Miss Alberta Claire, the Girl from Wyoming, who will appear in person without any number two or three companies but the original and only Miss Claire, who has been so prominent in the Spot Light through her miraculous jaunt across the continent. Miss Claire has arranged a clever specialty on this occasion and aside from her stage stunts will exhibit her pony and dog her sole companions. The picture, The Children of St. Anne, is a big show in itself and tells a story of old Louisiana, full of charity, faith and absorbing heart interest. Tuesday's bill will be equally interesting and together with Miss Claire a complete change of pictures will be shown. "In the Wake of a Brainstorm," "Through Mountains Majestic" and "Youth and Jealousy." Friday, children's day, a special two reel Thanhouser will be shown entitled, "The Marble Heart."

AT THE JEFFERSON

The Jefferson is offering a fine show today and tonight. An imp heads the picture entitled "A Woman Loved," a dramatic with a "punch" just teeming with excitement. A Gaumont weekly giving all the live news events of the world in pictures and the latest Paris styles in dresses and coats for ladies completes photo-play program. Dick Hartzler the boy baritone, with a new ballad will continue to please. Did you ever see a small boy with so large a voice? A special attraction for this week is Mae Taylor late star of the "Louisiana Lou Company," with a bunch of good songs and clever dances. Don't overlook the fact that Miss Taylor played this city last summer as a star at one fifty per seat. There will be a change of pictures every day and the price will remain five cents. Tuesday a Gaumont three reel special entitled, "When Thieves Fall Out," will give you plenty of excitement. It is a real live wire detective story.

Just as Heroic as Holland's Boy Hero

New Orleans, May 12.—What schoolboy has not been thrilled by the story of "The Leak in the Dike," telling of the boy hero of Holland who saved his country from destruction by crouching all night in the cold, with his arm stopping a hole that would otherwise have opened and let in the flooding ocean?

RALPH SERPAS.

Well, Louisiana has just such a boy hero, who did an even more heroic deed. He is Ralph Serpas, a 17-year-old New Orleans lad, who saved the Poydras levee below New Orleans.

Ralph, walking along the dyke during the recent flood, saw a place where a hole had been opened in the bank and the water was boiling through. The dirt all around was crumbling and the hole growing larger. In a few minutes the Mississippi would be pouring through in an irresistible torrent.

There was no one else near. Ralph did not hesitate. He sprang into the torrent and tried to stop the hole with his living body. And as he sunk deeper into the opening levee he shouted "Crevasse! Crevasse!" until at last help came from neighboring plantations.

So the levee was saved and with it all the plantations and people of the lowlands. And the other day Samuel Gibbs, vice president of the Louisiana Southwestern railway, publicly thanked Ralph and promised to help get a Carnegie hero medal for him.

ONE WAY TO KEEP YOUNG.

It is by cultivating the art of forgetting that many women find their health renewed and their beauty enhanced. Small troubles that have cankered have a way of establishing ugly wrinkles on the face, and irritating topics of conversation, if persisted in, sour the expression permanently. What an excellent idea it is to forget birthdays! The continual bugbear of age makes women grow old before their time. They feel, perhaps, that age must have concessions granted, and so give up those pastimes and enjoyments that were a pleasure simply because "I am over fifty now and too old for childish things." What a mistake that is! How much more sensible to say, "I enjoy them, and as long as I do I will retain my part in them." The ever young woman is not bound by that bugbear age, and is always looking on the happy side of everyday life.

Oh, that we might know where all the dust comes from, then we might be able to send at least some of it back to its "native heath."

We have made great strides in the manner of disposing of dust. Time was when the turkey feather duster simply stirred up this great menace to health, set it in motion and allowed it to settle again in new or old places, to be again disturbed as soon as the sun shone in the room, making it seen again.

Dusting in this manner means only moving the dust from one place to another, often with windows and doors tightly closed.

Dust seems to be an ever-increasing product, and if you cannot take it out of a room altogether you had better let it alone. If you are the possessor of a feather duster, forget it and open the windows.

Cheese cloth makes the very best dusters. A damp duster is much better than a dry one. Dampen a piece of cheese cloth about one yard square with tepid water, using as dry as possible, and turn a little coal oil over the cloth. Do not have it wet—just damp. This is a perfect duster for large pieces of furniture that have no upholstery.

Go over every bit of woodwork in the room.

A small paint brush is helpful to clean cracks, open work or carving.

If the furniture has tapestry or any cloth on, it is better to use gasoline in place of the oil.

Dust walls and ceilings with cotton flannel bag tied on a broom.

Don't forget in dusting to dust the duster. Shake it out of doors.

Don't go to the window that is conveniently open and shake the dust cloth, for if you do you scatted much of the dust and it will be carried back into the room.

Two or three dusters are helpful. Using one until you feel it has reached the limit of holding dust, take another and so on, and when you are finished hang these pieces of cheese cloth on a line out in the yard and let the breeze carry the dust on to the next victim.

Rooms that are not constantly used should also be carefully dusted often. A layer of dust is unwholesome and dangerous in damp weather. It decays and becomes poisonous. Dampness and dust are to be avoided if we desire the family to be in good health.

"PEACE DAY" IN SCHOOLS.

County Superintendent McComb Requests Observance of Day.

County Superintendent of Schools D. O. McComb, acting on the suggestion of Charles A. Greathouse, the state superintendent of the Indiana schools, requests the district school teachers of the county to have their schools observe "Peace Day" on some day during the month of May. In speaking of the matter he says:

"The American School Peace League has dedicated the 18th day of May to the cause of Peace, and has invited the schools to co-operate in this movement by inspiring the children in the schools, not only on this special day, but on all days, with a love and harmony and an appreciation of the value of the peace of nations."

Since the many duties attendant on the closing of the schools for the year may make it impossible to observe both "Mothers' Day" and "Peace Day," the state superintendent urges the schools yet in session to combine the sentiments of honor to the mothers and peaceful relations between nations and men in a session of the school at some day or hour during the present month. The two ideas work for the advancement of home and national life.

FIND MANY DIFFERENT BIRDS.

Twenty-Four Audubon Society Members Make Observation Trip.

Twenty-four members of the Allen County Audubon society participated in the annual observation trip Saturday and during the course of their ramble in Foster park, discovered forty-five species of birds that make their habitation in this section of the country. Charles A. Stockbridge, who directed the trip, declares that the most common species here at this time of the year are the robin, grackle, oriole and rose-breasted grosbeak.

A discussion of the birds found on the outing will be indulged at a meeting of the society to be held Friday evening, May 16 at the public library. Anybody interested in the study of birds is cordially invited to attend.

TO MEET WITH COUNCIL.

Anti-Tuberculosis Society Appoints Committee on Hospital Work.

At a meeting of the Fort Wayne Anti-Tuberculosis society held Saturday evening at the Commercial club, a committee consisting of Hon. Perry A. Randall, Dr. George W. Gille, Professor Louis W. Dorn, Jessie M. Shober and Rev. Philip Wambsganss, jr., was appointed to confer with the Allen county council and the city board of health concerning the erection of tuberculosis cottages on the poor farm.

DENOUNCING THE BOUDOIR CAP.

Of all the dress fads that women have taken to in many years that of the boudoir cap is the most heartily detested by the majority of men. Ten years ago no woman would have been seen in such an absurdity, but now there is no escape from it. Even the bachelor is afflicted with a view of this useless adornment, for women do not save it for the intimate family circle, but wear it at breakfast or perhaps, at tea, and even at the theater, in full view of masculine eyes.

"It seems to me," says one bachelor who has rabid views on the subject, "that at some point in almost every play now running some female character appears in a boudoir cap and a negligee gown which seems so insecurely held together that, as a modest creature, I feel I must put my opera glasses out of action. I had a great moment at the play the other evening when, after a lady in the play had appeared at breakfast in a pink drapery that my mother would unresitatingly have called "shameful," and had pleaded that she thought it charming, the man in the play retorted that he wasn't used to being charmed at that time in the morning. I could have risen in my seat and cheered, the phrase seemed so aptly to express my own distaste for the thing."

IRON AND STEEL TRADE SUFFERS

Sheet and Tin Committee Gets Its Audience With the Amalgamated.

COMMITTEES AT WORK

W. J. Lynch, of Granite City, Ill., general superintendent of the National Enameling and Stamping company, and chairman of the committee representing the national organization of independent sheet and tin manufacturers, which has been granted an audience before the delegates of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, in annual session here, today declared that recent tariff legislation, especially that effecting the iron and sheet trades, has resulted in a material drop in business thus far.

While refusing to discuss the proposed action of the committee, Mr. Lynch declared that it will take up the wage question when given a hearing late this afternoon. He said that all matters pertaining to the iron sheet and tin trades will be discussed, but said the nature of the committee's meeting with the amalagamated will be kept secret until after the convention as a whole has taken action on the different proposals.

Other members of the manufacturers' committee are James H. Nutt, of Youngstown, O., special representatives of the Youngstown Iron and Steel company, and Charles R. Hook, of Middletown O., general superintendent of the American Rolling Mills company.

The convention went into preliminary session at 9 o'clock this morning but adjourned to go into committee work, which after a brief interruption this afternoon for a hearing of the manufacturers' committee, will again be taken up and rushed to completion. Secretary M. F. Tighe, of Pittsburg, declared that the committees will not be ready to report until Wednesday. The only committee completing its works at this time is the iron wage committee which will be the first to report when the convention resumes regular sessions. Tonight the delegates will be guests of the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor at a regular session of that organization. Saturday night they enjoyed a dance given by the Woman's Label league, and the annual memorial services of the amalgamated were held Sunday.

National Secretary M. F. Tighe delivered the eulogy, mentioning in his address only the Fort Wayne members who passed away during the last year. Other speakers were National President John Williams and Ben I. Davis, of Pittsburg. Mr. Davis is editor of the Amalagamated Journal. Prosecuting Attorney Harry H. Hilgemann, of Fort Wayne, was another speaker.

Delegates attending the convention also observed "mother's day" by wearing carnations Sunday.

THROWING AWAY A JOB.

"I'm not workin' at the foundry any more, Tom."

"What for, Andy? Did they fire you?"

"No. Me and the foreman had words, and sooner than see him lose his job, I quit."

"In that case, I guess he was sorry to see you go?"

"Yes. In fact, he pleaded with me to come back and say it again."

Leonard Wood, who was recently appointed captain of battery B, succeeding Harry Clark, who resigned, has received his credentials from Governor Ralston. Lieutenant Henry C. Moriarity resigned from battery B several months ago, but the resignation was known only by the officials.

SAVE MANY LIVES WITH NEW SERUM

Of 1,294 Cases of Meningitis 894 Recovered After Treatment.

PERCENTAGE OF 30.9

New York, May 12.—Prof. Simon Flexner, director of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, has made public the results of the use of his serum in 1,294 cases of epidemic cerebro-spinal meningitis, covering the entire period of the administration of the serum, from its discovery in 1906 to date.

It is, he says, the final report on the subject, inasmuch as the institute no longer prepares the serum and is collecting no more histories of cases treated with it.

The total results as to the 1,204 cases analyzed he summarizes as follows:

Recovered	894
Died	400
Per cent. died	30.9

According to Dr. Flexner's figures the mortality in the disease in its epidemic form when not subjected to serum treatment was 73 per cent in Greater New York and 60 per cent in Boston, varying in other places in the United States from 70 to 90 per cent.

In Europe the mortality in epidemic meningitis, he adds, has varied when the serum was not used from 55.6 per cent in Italy to 67 per cent in Germany and 80 per cent in Edinburg, Scotland.

Results in Southern Epidemics.

In the 1911-12 Texas epidemic the mortality in the serum treated cases was only 24 to 27 per cent; in the 1912 Shreveport, La., epidemic 30.1 per cent recovered under serum treatment and 85 per cent of the non-serum cases died, and at Shreveport the mortality among negroes not given serum was 91.5 per cent.

The serum was most effective in saving life when injected before the third day of the illness, and it was least effective, in general, on infants under one year, and saved the most lives when applied to children between five and ten years of age. Tests all indicated that human resistance to epidemic meningitis is greatest in those between five and six years.

Some strains of meningitis germs are more virulent than others, and the severity of the disease appears to be due to the type of germ at work, rather than to the nationality or occupation of the patient. Young persons are more subject than older ones to the epidemic form. The chance of recovery is not good after the twentieth year.

"Undoubtedly," asserts Dr. Flexner, "it is the ordinary type of epidemic meningitis that responds best to the serum treatment. This fact is shown not only by the general reduction in mortality, but also by the common alteration of the manner of its termination from lysis to crisis. It is just this transformation and the general shortening of the whole course of the disease and the consequent suppression of the chronic form of the infection that bring conviction of the value of the serum not only by reason of statistical presentations, but even more cogently to the hospital physicians who have large experience with the usual course and tendencies of the malady."

Chronic Lesions Prevented.

Prof. Flexner goes into details concerning the action of the disease and the operation of the serum, and in summing up he says:

"The conclusion may be drawn that the anti-meningitis serum, when used by the subdural method of injection, in suitable doses and at proper intervals, is capable of reducing the period of illness, of preventing in large measure the chronic lesions and types of the infection, of bringing about complete restoration of health in all but a very small number of the recovered, thus lessening the serious, deforming and permanent consequences of meningitis, and of greatly diminishing the fatalities due to the disease."

SHE SAVED HER PENNIES.

New York Woman Wealthy from Sale of Newspapers.

New York, May 12.—With the pennies saved from the sale of newspapers almost daily for the past twenty-two years at the entrance of Brooklyn bridge, Mrs. Rebecca Karp is making her second investment in New York real estate. Although penniless when she came to this country she took her stand among a number of competitors at the bridge entrance and from midnight to 9 o'clock each morning, rain or shine, she has been dispensing newspapers with such success that she purchased a fine three-story house in which she has brought up seven children and given the elder ones a taste of higher education, and, according to the records of real estate transfers, she is now purchasing a valuable piece of property next door.

FLOODS HIT THE CLUB HARD JOLT

Made Floor Rough and It Caused Hurt to Bunny Fabrique.

THIS LOST A BATTLE

Not satisfied with effacing the fences, bleachers and club house from the landscape at the Varnell ball lot, the floods of March gave the club one parting jolt to which can be traced at least indirectly the loss of one of the best battles of the season when the Grand Rapids Bill-Eds, with Edward "Jeff" Pfeffer doing the Sabbath mounding, lugged off the three end of a 3 to 1 total.

Interested patrons know that La Verne Fabrique, alias Bunny, has a sore foot and that said sore foot is keeping him out of his place at short. The soreness was produced by a couple of slivers that the shortstopper picked up at the club house in making his run from his locker to the shower bath. Before the final the floor presented a smooth surface and players could walk about in their bare feet with impunity. The water left it rough and the slivers that finally disabled Fabrique resulted during high water.

In the first inning of the encounter with Grand Rapids Core hit a high foul back of third base. This is the kind that Fabrique simply eats up. Al Bashang chased across after it and yelled that he had it, and Burke and Jansen stopped. He dropped the ball and then Core was passed. Tydeman beat out a rap along the first base line and filled the bases. Kroy having hit and been sacrificed to first.

George "Doc" Schmick caught a low curve on the end of his bat and rammed it to right for a couple of sacks, clearing up the bases, and the three runs won the game. If Fabrique had been in his place he would have caught that fly ball as this is one of his strong points. Bashang made a hard try for it and probably if he had been used to playing at short he would have nabbed it.

Louis Loudermilk made his debut as a flinger and he it said of the big left-hander that there was some relat attached to his low. After the fatal muff in the opener he took a strangle hold on the enemy and not once did a Bill-Ed make the circuit. His work was impressive and especially strong with men on bases.

Ed Pfeffer was the opposing moundsman, and with flawless support he would not have been scored on. He is going at a clip that ought to land him in the majors if he can maintain the gait through the season.

Fort Wayne's only run was made in the seventh. After Harry Martin had kicked off with a pass, or rather, after one had been donated by Umpire Kelly, Tommy Mee fumbled Keener's grounder and Tutweiler popped to center. Anderson hit to left for a double and Martin scored but Keener was checked at 4th scored but Keener was checked at 4th and later forced by Burke. Jansen Third and later forced by Burke. Jansen Third and later forced by Burke. Jansen Third

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

AN ORPHANS HOME FOR HUNTINGTON

Movement Launched for the Building of One by the County— Would Save Expense.

Huntington, Ind., May 12.—On account of the rapidly increasing number of homeless and orphan children in the county each year and the large amount of money expended each year for the support and expenses of the children sent from this county to the orphan home in Mexico, Miami county and other institutions in neighboring cities, a movement to obtain an orphan home for this county has been set on foot by members of the society for the prevention of cruelty to children. It was estimated that about $1,600 is spent each year for the domestic expenses of the children sent from the county. An additional sum is paid as tuition in the Miami county schools for the children of school age.

At one time a home for orphan children was maintained a short distance north of the city, but about ten years ago the charges were removed to the institution near Peru and the home was abandoned.

The average number of children sent to the Miami county home each year from Huntington county is about 35. It is said that the number increases each year, and at the rate of increase officials say that the expense of maintaining a home in this county will be smaller than that of sending to other institutions.

Mothers' Day was remembered in this city by old and young alike and white and colored carnations were in evidence everywhere. A couple of wanderers or more commonly known as tramps, were seen walking along the Vandalia tracks toward Auburn Junction and one was wearing a white bunch of cherry blossoms and the other wore the dainty pink apple blossoms. When asked by a young Auburn lad if they weren't getting rather gay, one of them remarked in a disgusted manner, "Well, don't you know this is Mothers' Day. We may be tramps, but we still remember that we had a mother." It seems that nothing has touched the hearts of men and women alike so much as the observance of this day.

Shortly before noon today the fire alarm aroused our residents from the quiet and peaceful rest they were enjoying and the laddies, as usual, made a record trip in getting to the scene of the conflagration which was at the pleasant home of Mr. A. J. Stewart, on South Cowen street, directly across from the interurban transfer corner. They had attempted to start a fire in the furnace which in some way caused a slight explosion and set the house on fire. The alarm was turned in immediately but there was considerable damage done before it was gotten under control.

LABOR FAMINE DISAPPEARING

Bass Works and Pennsylvania Freight House Get Many Employes.

MEN COME FROM SEVERAL CITIES

Bass Works Fits Up Lodging and Boarding House for the New Men.

The boarding house experiment planned by the Bass Foundry and Machine works to secure and retain good laborers for the foundry and shops, was put in operation yesterday when forty-three American laborers, under charge of William C. Slater, arrived at 5:20 o'clock in the morning, over the Wabash, and went directly to the quarters that had been fitted up for them and where breakfast awaited them.

The night ride gave the men appetites and when they arose from the well laden table not a particle of the twenty-six pounds of bacon, one-third of a case of scrambled eggs, a lot of oatmeal and potatoes, which had been set before them remained in sight. In addition to these articles of food, vast quantities of bread and butter and many cups of good coffee were consumed. The dinner yesterday was all that an ordinary man could wish for. It included roast pork and beef, plenty of dressing and brown gravy, mashed potatoes, stewed tomatoes, tea and coffee, bread and butter and fruit. The supper consisted of cold meats, French fried potatoes, cold roast beans, bread and butter, fruit and tea and coffee.

These viands were prepared under the direction of Charles Lacklin, who has been engaged in cooking in Fort Wayne for nearly forty years, assisted by George Williams and Alex Smith, and were served in a most appetizing manner. That their efforts in the culinary way were appreciated was proven by the complimentary remarks of the men after each meal.

This unique boarding and lodging house is located in the first floor of the brick building of the old boiler shop, which for some years was used as a pattern storage house. To the men connected with the Bass works it is known as the Taylor building, because years ago it was used as a planing mills and lumber yard office by a man by the name of Taylor. The sleeping room is the eastern part of the first floor, in which have been placed fifty-two sanitary cots, which the men declare are as comfortable as any they ever occupied. The floor had been scrubbed, the walls and ceilings given several coats of whitewash and the room and surroundings generally renovated and put in first class sanitary condition.

The kitchen and the dining room are in the west part of the first floor and the same sanitary conditions prevail there. Neatly painted board partitions separate each room from the other departments, while the walls and ceilings have been given several coatings of whitewash, while the floors are kept as clean as soap and water can make them. Four long tables, with benches on each side, are arranged so that each can accommodate sixteen or eighteen people and have ample room at the ends and between them for the waiters. Over these tables are two electric lamps of many candle light power. The kitchen contains two large ranges, a refrigerator, cabinets and other necessary appurtenances. One of the pieces of which Mr. Lacklin is very proud is a massive double deck table a few feet from the stoves, on which are placed during the preparation of meals all things necessary. This table has an extension above it on which all the skillets, pans, kettles and other culinary articles can be hung up when not in use. Like the other departments the kitchen is kept in first class sanitary condition and lighted by electricity.

The wash room is just outside the building on the south and the same sanitary rules that prevail in other parts are enforced there.

This novel boarding house, with its present facilities, can accommodate sixty people, but provision could readily be made for a much larger party. It is an experiment to solving the labor problem. As previously stated in The Sentinel the Bass works have been short of laborers for some weeks and the different departments have been badly crippled at times. The men who take lodging and board at this establishment must, of course, be employes of the company and they are charged only a sufficient sum to pay the table and the help expenses. They are provided with a menu at each meal that at the average boarding house or restaurant would cost them nearly double the amount charged them.

ORGANIZING A FORCE.

Contractors Here to Get Men to Work on Wabash Depot.

Representatives of the Continental Building and Construction company, the contractors who will build the Wabash depot, and a representative of the Hines House Razing and Moving company arrived in the city yesterday and immediately began preparations for the work they are to do. The Hines man is making an effort to get a working force in Fort Wayne and placed an order with the free employment bureau this morning for a number of men. The Continental people will probably send a lot of laborers here from St. Louis, though they are undecided about the matter. Representatives of the Continental Construction company, who are here, are F. B. Wooley, superintendent of construction, and Murphy Anderson, labor foreman. They will have charge of the work of building the foundation for the old freight house, but have nothing to do with moving the building. When the building has been removed off the depot site, the work of putting in the foundation for the new passenger station will be immediately taken up.

LOADED MEAT CARS WRECKED.

Five Leave Rails and Block the Nickel Plate.

A broken axle caused the derailment of five cars of the first section of Nickel Plate train, No. 54, at Packertown, shortly after 12 o'clock Saturday night. The cars were distributed over the right of way in such manner as to make it hard and slow work for the wreck crews to open the line and the cars were also more or less damaged. They contained dressed meats and lard for the eastern markets, which was also badly damaged. The accident completely blocked the tracks for several hours and trains Nos. 6 and 5 had to make a detour, going over the Big Four between Claypool and Warsaw, the Pennsylvania between Warsaw and the junction and the Grand Rapids and Indiana from the junction of that line and the Pennsylvania to the Nickel Plate. Nobody was injured. The train was in charge of Conductor E. I. Grummond and Engineer Allen.

GONE TO THE CONVENTION.

Four Fort Wayne Conductors Attending O. R. C. Meeting.

The biennial convention of the international body of the Order of Railway Conductors opens a three weeks' convention at Detroit this week. It will be attended at various periods by a number of members of the order who reside in this city. Charles T. Mutott, Pennsylvania passenger conductor, is the delegate from the local lodge, No. 119, and with Mrs. Mutott will spend the entire time of the convention at Detroit. They went up there today. Other members of the local lodge who will attend the opening of the convention are Conductors George C. LaPoint, Charles W. Marshall and Charles A. Bowan, of the Nickel Plate, who accompanied by their wives, left today for Detroit.

OBJECTS TO BEING DEAD.

Samuel Metcalf Surprised By Notice of His Death.

Samuel Metcalf, passenger brakeman on the Pennsylvania, who aside from some temporary derangement of the spine, which keeps him from his work on the road, was surprised to read in the Bucyrus Telegram the following notice: "Solomon Metcalf, of South Poplar street, received a message Friday evening telling of the death of his uncle, Samuel Metcalf, of Fort Wayne." Brakeman Metcalf is certainly a pretty lively corpse. He is also pretty angry at the author of the item, who ever he may be, which says that he is dead. He was taken sick September 12, 1912, and has not been able to work since, but he is improving and will soon report for duty.

GOT FIFTY-THREE LABORERS.

Agent Kirkland Adds to Freight House Force.

As a result of the efforts of Patrolman McGrain, of Captain Stoll's forces, and John Moton, porter at the passenger station, the forces in the Pennsylvania warehouse were increased fifty-three this morning. Twenty-one of these men are Italians and they were secured at Lima by Patrolman McGrain and brought here yesterday. Thirty-two colored laborers comprised the gang brought up from Indianapolis by John Moton. All went to work this morning and it is believed they will remain. This addition to the force of freight handlers puts the Pennsylvania freight house on "easy street" again, so far as help is concerned.

GOING WEST TO LIVE.

William Wilkinson and Clinton Cartwright to Seattle.

William Wilkinson, of 2125 Weiser Park avenue, a moulder at the Bass foundry for the past six years, accompanied by the members of his family, will leave Wednesday for Seattle, Wash., where Mr. Wilkinson has secured employment at his trade and where he expects to reside in the future. Accompanying Mr. Wilkinson and his family to Seattle will be Clinton Cartwright, employed as a former in the Wayne knitting mills for the past five years. He will make Seattle his future home.

BALLOTS BEING DISTRIBUTED.

Ballots for the election of members of the advisory committee of the Pennsylvania Voluntary Relief association are being distributed. On the Western and Terminal divisions, which comprise the third electoral division, there are five candidates. Orville Irvin, Harry O. Cook and Thomas F. Leyden, of the Chicago terminal, and Samuel M. Taylor and Edwin G. Ludwig, of the Western division, both residing in Fort Wayne. The ballots must be in by May 21, when the result will be announced. John E. J. Hebert, a machinist, is the present member of the advisory board.

TWO BALL GAMES.

The Wabash switchmen defeated a team calling themselves McNally's Colts, in a ball game yesterday, the score being 11 to 12. A member of the switchmen's team thus speaks of the game: "The features of the game were the rotten work of the umpire, the base running of Raymond for the switchmen and the catcher for McNally's Colts, Butch Seasler, nearly having his trousers torn off blocking a man off home plate."

Another ball game is thus described by a member of the winning team: "The Pennsylvania train master office team defeated the shop clerk's team Saturday afternoon by a score of 23 to 8. Batteries for train master team, Pollock and Tholan; shop clerk's, Piepenbrink and Follinger. The victorious team challenge any amateur team in the city for Saturday afternoons or Sunday mornings. Call 7091 green or address U. Arnold, care Pennsylvania train master office."

TWO ACCIDENTS OF A KIND.

Two machinists in the Pennsylvania erecting shop sustained injuries this morning under circumstances that were identical. Each had a piece of steel to lodge in his eye and injure the optic, but neither accident will result in loss of sight. The victims were W. G. Horman and C. F. Bright.

STOREKEEPERS TO MEET.

The seven or eight division storekeepers on the northwest system of the Pennsylvania will be here several days this week to discuss matters of interest to the department they represent. The meeting will be presided over by C. P. Cherry, storekeeper of the Western division.

He was taken to St. Joseph hospital and after receiving attention from Dr. A. H. Marbeth, left the institution for his home. His injuries are not serious.

Machinist James A. Majors, manager and president of the Pennsylvania shop league team, was surprised Saturday noon to find when he opened a package supposed to contain a ball club uniform which he had carried home the contents were some badly soiled overalls and jackets that one of the boys had fixed up to send to the laundry. The uniform was worn last year by Fred Romary, who is not a member of the Pennsylvania team this year and who was instructed to turn the suit over to Mr. Majors. It has been recovered.

SCHEME WAS NOVEL ONE.

Insurance Company's Plan Gets Hartford a New Building.

Charles W. Orr, local representative of the Aetna Life Insurance company, has received word from the general offices at Hartford, Conn., that the directors of the company have planned a novel scheme for completing the fund of $300,000 for the erection of a Y. M. C. A. building in that city.

A. R. Hillyer, a director, started the fund by giving $150,000. Others connected with the company generously contributed to the fund until last week only $11,493.98 was needed. At a meeting of the directors Saturday it was decided to increase the wages of all the employes so that the total increase per year would reach the sum necessary, with the understanding that this amount for the first year must be given to the Y. M. C. A. fund. After the first year the increase goes to the employes of the company.

"Tourist Jim," a king of tramps, known in his own section of the country as Jim Mullen, arrived in Fort Wayne Sunday on the bumpers of a Pennsylvania train. He only remained a short time, however, saw a few old friends and left in the same manner that he arrived. He is headed westward.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

SUNDAY THEATRE IS CONDEMNED

In Resolutions Adopted by Four Church Bodies of the City.

WANT LAW ENFORCED

The question of the Sunday theater, which includes also the moving picture shows, is becoming a live issue in the churches and the different societies of the churches. It was discussed and the Sunday theater condemned as harmful at a recent meeting of the Fort Wayne Ministerial association. Sunday a similar discussion and action was taken by the congregations of two of the churches and the societies of two others.

At a meeting of the congregation of the Wayne Street M. E. church Sunday, following a sermon by the pastor, Rev. C. Claud Travis, the following resolutions were passed unanimously:

"Whereas, Our fathers long ago made plain to all self-respecting and right-thinking people that religious conviction and observance is the spring of all our welfare and progress, and

"Whereas, That eminent American patriot and citizen of all ages has remarked to the moral judgment of all who are best and truest, that morality and religion are necessary springs of our national life, and

"Whereas, The church, the bible and Sabbath observance must be respected and conformed to if we shall continue to reap rich harvests of happiness; therefore we declare—

"1. That the growing encroachments of Sunday theaters are to be deprecated and discouraged on all proper occasions as an undisguised enemy of all the above morad certitudes of our inheritance.

"2. That we implore all interested promoters of these amusements to close them on God's holy day.

"3. That it is our duty to employ any legal as well as moral appeal to effect reform in these offences."

Grace Reformed Church.

The resolution passed at the Sunday service by the congregation of the Grace Reformed church was as follows:

"Believing that the Sunday theater is a violation of our Sabbath and state laws, and a menace to the welfare of the community and state, be it resolved that the men of Grace Reformed church have a firm conviction that the theaters should be closed on the Sabbath day, and are prepared to co-operate in such a movement."

Plymouth Men's Bible Class.

The members of the Men's Bible class of Plymouth church Sunday morning voted unanimously in protest against the Sunday theater, not on the grounds of immorality, but law-breaking. They regard the theater business as it is carried on in this city to be in open violation of the laws of the state. They believe that the Sunday theaters encourage a gross disregard for law and order and are therefore menace to the best interests of the true spirit of patriotism.

Third Presbyterian Brotherhood.

The Brotherhood of the Third Presbyterian church, at a meeting held, passed the following resolutions:

"We believe that the Sunday opening of theaters in Fort Wayne should be abolished for the following reasons:

"A. It is a desecration of the Sabbath. This day has been divinely set apart for rest and worship and attendance at a theater is not in accordance with the law of God to man.

"B. It is one means toward the deterioration and not the upbuilding of our national life and morals; one step further away from our forefathers' ideals of plain living and high thinking. To attend a theater on Sunday is to live in a world of fiction and unreality on a day when men's thoughts should be turned toward his Creator.

"C. It is contrary to the laws of the state. We cannot class ourselves as good citizens and shut our eyes to open violation of the law."

Make Position Clear.

It is not the moving picture show as such, the ministers and the laymen engaged in this movement say, that is condemned, but only the giving of exhibitions on Sunday. "If the proper kind of pictures are shown," they say, "the moving pictures is destined to be a great blessing. It is an educator, a teacher along literary, scientific, ethical and religious lines. The church people are not opposed to the picture show. It is the object of the church people of Fort Wayne to make the picture show a mighty factor in our city life. It is our purpose to encourage every high class movement along this line. It is the conduct of them, and the theater, on Sunday that is condemned. If they are run on the Sabbath day it is an open violation of the Sunday law. The people of this city who stand for law and order, righteousness and justice, demand the strict observance of the law."

The Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company has just issued booklets to all of its car employes. The title of the book is: "Common Courtesy is the Business of Every Man." It is another step on the part of the company to please the traveling public.

PRIZE-WINNER AMONG 25,000 CHILDREN.

ANNA. R. NORVELL.

San Diego, Cal., May 9.—It is jolly to be only 12 years old and the winner of $100.

This is the distinction which Miss Anna Rochester Norvell of 3336 Dale street, San Diego, Cal., has achieved in a contest instituted recently by a food company. Among 25,000 children contesting for the prize, Miss Norvell, who is a sixth grade pupil in a San Diego school, drew the best picture of a girl used in advertising of the company's product.

She is a talented child, modest and charmingly girlish and utterly unconscious of having done anything out of the ordinary. This is not the first honor of this nature which Miss Norvell has won, her talent having secured for her a diamond ring in a similar contest when but 9 years old, while living in Butte, Mont. A year later she won a piano in a drawing contest.

Little Miss Norvell expects to go east as soon as she has finished grammar school, to study art, and she even plans to pursue her artistic endeavors abroad when she has completed a course of study in this country.

FRISCO HAS NEW GRAFT SCANDAL

Eight Policemen Indicted for Alleged Aid Given to Bunco Men.

SENSATION IN STORE

San Francisco, May 12.—Forty Italian bunco men operating under the protection of San Francisco policemen reaped a harvest of a million dollars during the last three years. Of the loot the police were given 15 per cent outright, but they secured virtually all of the ill-gotten gains as they owned an interest in gambling places where the "operators" squandered their share of the "fleece."

POLICEMAN FRANK ESOLA.

This is a summary of a series of sensational confessions made by a number of swindlers and corroborated by their agents before a grand jury, which has already led to the indictment of eight policemen and may result in discoveries that will start a graft prosecution which may rival the one that put Abe Ruef in the penitentiary.

The accused bluecoats are Frank Esola, Arthur Macphee, Charles Taylor, William McHugh, James McGawan, Charles Joseph, Louis Drollette and Jack Sullivan. All have served from 10 to 15 years on the police force.

For two years the bunco men held sway before a number of Italian merchants who had complained repeatedly, but futilely, to police officials, banded together, engaged private detectives and secured sufficient evidence to convince the district attorney that their accusations were just.

That was last September. From then on the prosecutor gathered evidence. Two months later he sprang his trap. Arrests occurred in rapid succession over the entire country.

Up to this time only rumor connected the names of the policemen with the "sure thing" men. Then the prisoners confessed the police had protected them. And this is why The bunco men themselves were being buncoed by the police. The police had convinced these shrewd Italians that they would not be prosecuted. Finally the showdown came. Mike Gallo stood convicted. Something had gone wrong, the detective told, but they agreed to support Gallo's wife and two children during his five years of imprisonment if he would "keep mum." Thirty dollars a month was to be paid the destitute family. Believing his countrymen might still escape, Gallo agreed to go silently to jail.

Next came the cases of Du Bois, De Martini and Corrigan. They, too, were found guilty to their great surprise. The police had fallen down completely.

Believing they had been given the "double cross," these three, out of a spirit of revenge and without hope of immunity, told all. They gave specific instances of the payment of graft to the officers, named the dozens who could corroborate them and laid bare the scheme by which the guardians of the peace had promised to deliver an entire city and two million visitors into the hands of a gang of thieves during the Panama-Pacific exposition.

Amazing angles of the police graft were unfolded in rapid succession.

The time-worn "washer game" or "tin box" trick was the one most used, said the bunco men. A "sucker" is told that a certain philanthropist wishes an agent to aid in the distribution of his wealth. The "come-on" must of course put up a certain amount as evidence of good faith. He is told that a similar sum will be placed in the hands of a third party by the mythical benefactor. Both sums are placed in tin boxes and the "agent" is permitted to mind both temporarily. Thereafter the bunco artists disappear and the victim, becoming suspicious, examines the tins and finds both are filled with iron washers. Another swindle is worked along similar lines, the only change being that the dupe is supposed to become guardian of an heiress.

And now San Francisco is wondering whether she is in for another graft prosecution and whether, despite the nearness of the Panama-Pacific exposition, she is to be again held up to the world and compelled to tell her shame in public. The investigation is by no means over; it has just begun, and it is freely predicted by the district attorney's office that before long the "higher-ups" will be tangled in the net and one of the startling stories of police graft and alliance with the underworld will be told.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THE WRONG WEAPON.

The Poor Children's Institute at Beuggen was once wrongly and viciously attacked by the Swiss newspapers. "I sharpened my pen," so Heinrich Zeller, the inspector, tell us, "and sat down to write an answer full of sarcasm and bitterness. My conscience slightly disapproved, but I paid no heed to it, and I took pleasure in the writing. The president of the institute came to see me, and I showed him what I had written. I looked at him as he read; he was very serious. I thought he would at least smile at some of the hits; but instead he shook his head more and more, and then said: 'Dear brother, do not dip your pen in the devil's inkstand.' I did not print my article."

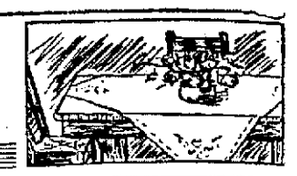
Fads, Facts and Fashions for Women



MANY GIRLS WIN CAP AND GOWN THROUGH THE DUSTING CAP ROUTE

Exodus of Fair Co-eds From College Halls to Kitchens Will Start With Ending of School Term.

With a transformation quite surpraising, the fair co-ed of the fall and winter months will be quite another person during the days of summer.

Indeed, it is a question if many of these fair young students would be recognized by their classmates were they to be found at their chosen lines of work during the summer months.

For many of the girls who have been only students during the academic year will during the vacation period be farmers, chicken fanciers, nurse maids, traveling companions, waitresses, kitchen maids, dry goods clerks, soda water dispensers, cooks, book agents, fruit pickers, dressmakers, milliners, governesses, and goodness knows what else.

Just the minute school closes, books will be packed away, and the summer's business of winning the wherewithal which shall pay for next year's school expenses will be the all-engrossing occupation of their minds and bodies.

And it is surprising to know how many girls are earning their way through school, by their work during the vacation period. The business acumen which some of the fair coeds or our educational institutions demonstrate in financing their school and college course would do credit to many an experienced business man, and many of these girls so cleverly plan the whole thing that they make plenty of room for recreation, the while they are doing it.

It's in the spirit of American girlhood today, the spirit of independence and enterprise that these girls find their inspiration for all this determination and effort to pay their own expenses while they are attending school. Surrounded by progress everywhere, they are loath to be content at home with nothing but a narrow existence and inevitable marriage as their end in view. They want to achieve; they want to succeed; they want as much of learning and culture as they can have.

And they want to earn it.

Indeed, many a girl who does not need to do it works her way through school, paying the largest share of her expenses.

And many a girl has wended her way to the cap and gown wearing the gingham dusting cap and apron.

Fabric Vogue Has Invaded Smartest Millinery Fashions

This is the season when fabrics play an important part in the millinery. All sorts of combinations of fabrics with braids and straws are used, and the effect is always that of softness and beauty of line.

The vogue of the Tam o'Shanter crown has made this possible to a considerable degree, while the furore for Bulgarian silks and crepes has still further emphasized the tendency.

Veilings of tulle, soft draperies of crepe de chine in the lovely flowered and Bulgarian effects, combinations of charmeuse with hair braid, and lovely frills of lace and even embroidery on the lovely lingerie hats—all are employed in this modish millinery of the summer season.

Unusually lovely are the colorings made possible by the vogue, and never have the hats been more becoming or more beautiful as creations of the milliners' art than those decreed by Dame Fashion for midsummer wear.

The combination of materials in the millinery models is quite in line with the combinations which characterize all the season's styles. In gowns and suits there are the same exquisite combinations, all of which makes for great possibilities in the designing of milady's wardrobe.

Flowers of the loveliest hues are to be used for trimming, though the hats are not loaded with trimmings as in some former seasons. However, everything which is used in the making of the season's millinery must be of the finest quality which the purse will allow.

Maline is combined with braid in the hat shown above, while the hat at the right is developed in a combination of charmeuse and braid.

Flowered silk is used in the soft crown of the hat shown above. In the one in the right hand corner the trimming is a pleated lace ruch.

HER WHIMS.

Virgin blue, sapphire and dresden still hold supremacy.

All the new evening gowns have the sheerest possible bodices.

Silk stockings, with openwork more clocks, are in favor for evening.

The fashionable coiffure clings more closely than ever to the head.

Many coats have the cutaway fronts, the dressier being more extreme in cut and raised at the waist line. The fastenings are made under a buckle, frog or decorative button.

Some of the new square collars on linen dresses are fitted smoothly to the shoulders, and small linen ties finish them.

The prettiest nightgowns are the simple kimono style, with French slightly fitted backs and rounded necks.

CHILDREN SHOULD BE TAUGHT HOW TO USE MONEY PROPERLY

Teach a Child the Way He Shall Go, and When He Is Old He Will Not Depart From It.

If all of a sudden some money should fall to you, and you had never handled a bit of money before, even though you were a person of mature years; if all your life everything you needed or wanted had been furnished to you without one bit of thought or struggle on your part, do you suppose that you would know how to handle that money when you received it?

Of course you wouldn't. You know perfectly well that you would not have the slightest idea of how to care for it, to spend it or to save it.

Yet that is exactly what fathers and mothers are expecting of their boys and girls today.

All during their boyhood and girlhood days, during the formative period of their lives, money is furnished them at their request whenever it is possible. The children know nothing of the effort expended in earning the money, of the value of it or of saving it. As a result they develop wasteful habits, they are extravagant and they know absolutely nothing about handling money.

How can they expect to know the value of money when these methods are followed.

It's a good system which is followed in many English homes of giving to each child a monthly allowance, of requiring the child to buy his own clothes, books, gifts, etc., and providing for his spending money out of that sum. The allowance should be within the means of the family exchequer, and this will serve to teach the child the important lesson of living within his means.

Under the supervision of parents wise enough to follow this plan, any boy or girl may develop into a careful spender and saver of money, and into an economical, thrifty citizen. They will naturally know the value of money and its proper use.

It's much the same system which is used in many of the Holland families in which the children are taught to raise and sell vegetables, and in this way earn their money.

It all reverts to that old proverb, "Teach a child in the way he shall go, and when he is old he will not depart from it."

HER WORK.

To erase all traces of scorch stains wet the scorched place, rub well with soap and bleach in the sun.

If clothespins, when new, are plunged into boiling water for a few moments there will be less danger of their splitting when used.

To freshen a skirt that has become mussed from packing or otherwise, brush carefully, so that all dust may be removed, and then hang over a tub of hot water.

All vegetables, except potatoes should be cooked in uncovered dishes. If cabbage is rather strong and loses color it is because it has been put on in cold water or the kettle has been covered.

To set colors in laundering remember to soap pink, green, aniline reds, lavender, purple and blue in a tub of water into which two ounces of alum have been dissolved. Dark blue, gray and black may be set by soaking in salt water.

Real Sympathy Comes from Experience

(BY BLANCHE DRAPER.)

She was the daughter of a broken home.

Separated from her mother at an early age, she was placed in a family where during her childhood days she worked for her board.

When but a slip of a girl she married a poor man.

Then she was the mother of seven children.

By dint of hard work and never-ceasing economy, she brought up the little brood.

Then one day, when her family was practically grown up, there came a call for sympathy from a mother in distress—a mother who had been deserted, left homeless, penniless, alone with a little family of children—the youngest but a few days old.

With her big heart wide open to receive the unfortunate mother, this woman, this daughter of a broken home, this hardworking, wife and mother of seven children, responded immediately, and opened her home as a refuge for the homeless little group.

Out of her little she gave much, while others who during all their years had been cradled in the lap of luxury, stood by and offered only empty words of pity.

Doesn't this prove beyond question that if adversity has no other compensation, this much cannot be denied, it develops a capacity for real human and effective sympathy which can be developed in no other way.

Because this woman had suffered much, she was able to love much; and because she loved much, she sympathized much; because her sympathy was real, and came from a genuine loving heart, trained in the school of experience, the sympathy was vital, effective and worthful.

Here was an opportunity for service which was open to hundreds, but it was the heart of the woman who knew the pain of real sorrow which was the first to respond.

What the world needs today is more of this real human sympathy, and less of the cold-hearted pity.

Requested Recipes

Macaroni and Poached Eggs.

Break half a pound of macaroni into short lengths, put them into a saute pan with two tablespoonfuls of butter and enough milk to cover; stir up from time to time, as they will swell while cooking. When nearly done season with salt and pepper, and grated Parmesan cheese; dress the cooked macaroni on a dish, cover with rich brown sauce and bake for ten minutes. Poach four or six eggs, trim and lay them on top of the macaroni, garnish with parsley and serve hot.

Soft Gingerbread.

Cream together one cupful of brown sugar, and half a cupful of butter, add one cupful of molasses, one tablespoonful each of cinnamon, cloves and allspice, one-fourth of a tablespoonful of mace, a pinch of salt, four whole eggs, four cupfuls of flour, one cupful of sour milk with one level teaspoonful of soda in it. Bake in a long biscuit pan in a moderately hot oven.

Here's a New Lettuce Dressing

In the springtime everybody loves green things to eat.

Their crisp freshness is tempting alike to the palate and the eye, and any particularly tasty method of serving these same green vegetables is welcomed by the cook and housewife, also by the family.

And of all the green things there is probably nothing in the early spring time which is more relished by the majority of people than lettuce. Head lettuce, and leaft lettuce alike, are delicious in their appetizing freshness.

And here's a really new dressing for head lettuce which has become quite a favorite among connoisseurs. So simple it is that it may be quickly and easily made, and it's wonderfully tasty.

Rub together thoroughly one teaspoonful of powdered sugar, salt, pepper and paprika. In a bowl in which is placed a small piece of ice, blend together five tablespoonfuls of olive oil, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar, a small tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce and two tablespoonfuls of chili sauce. Beat all together until smooth.

Next time you serve head lettuce on your menu, try this new dressing, and you will doubtless join the ranks of its clientele, all of whom maintain it's quite the most delicious dressing hed lettuce ever had.

May Day Frolic May Be Made Most Merry Social Function

Can you imagine a more delightful party for the spring time than a May party?

During recent years May parties have not been quite so general as in the days of our mothers and grandmothers, but, nevertheless, May day furnishes an opportunity for the hostess to give a most enjoyable entertainment, entirely informal and appropriate to the season.

There's something so happy, so refreshing, so thoroughly delightful in the suggestions afforded by the mere mention of May day, so much of the picturesque, the quaint, of nature and the big outdoors, that the girl who is planning a springtime party could have no more delightful a function.

One young girls, noted for her unique and enjoyable parties, gave an unusually charming May day party last year. On her choicest correspondence cards, decorated in one corner with a cunning Kate Greenaway maiden, she wrote invitations bidding her guests to "come drink a cup of tea at four o'clock," and bore the tea at four o'clock," and they bore the posies.

When the guests arrived they were ushered into a room where were a number of flower receptacles filled with water. There were work tables on which were cardboard and paper and ribbon for making May baskets, which, when they were completed, were filled with the May flowers. These baskets were hung on a line, each basket being numbered.

The "tea" was served in the dining room, which was a bower of artificial dogwood and real cherry blossoms. Tiny artificial butterflies hovered about amid the flowers. The supper was served, as far as possible, in May baskets.

Following the supper, young men who had been invited for the evening arrived and acted as judges of the baskets—a prize being awarded to the prettiest one. Then the baskets were taken to a nearby hospital, after which the party returned to the home of the hostess where a candy pull was enjoyed, completing a merry frolic.

May day breakfasts and luncheons may be quite as delightfully arranged, and at slight expense if the hostess be clever and original.

The Business Girl

THE BUSINESS GIRL WHO IS A PARASITE.

(By Blanche Draper.)

A menace to the employees in every business place in which you are employed hre you, the Business Girl Who Is a Parasite. I know it doesn't sound exactly nice to call you a parasite. But that's precisely what you are. You fairly exist upon what others do for you, and you never hesitate to ask them to do these things either.

You are the girl who always spends her money before the week is over, and who is always borrowing of her associates. You are the girl who always has forgotten her umbrella, or her raincoat, or her rubbers, or who must needs borrow a hatpin, a sweater coat, or some other similar thing with which other girls have provided themselves, but which you expect to enjoy only by borrowing.

Your greatest fault is shiftlessness. Added to this you lack self-respect and dignity, and in addition to all this it's a question in the minds of many of your associates as to whether your intentions are really honest.

Why don't you brace up and make up your mind to be independent, to depend upon yourself, and not expect others to look after you. Sacrifice, deprive yourself of pleasures and comforts if necessary, spend your money sensibly and with a purpose. But whatever you do, make up your mind not to be the Business Girl Who Is a Parasite.

FINDS HAPPINESS IN TUB.

Wellesley Graduate Says Love Is in Housework for Husband.

Boston, Mass., May 12.—The woman who keeps house for her husband and children and does the work herself knows real happiness, according to Mrs. William A. Shick, a young Brookline matron. She is a Wellesley graduate and the wife of a former captain of the Harvard track team, a champion in the 100-yard and 220-yard sprintes. Mrs. Schick, holding her baby in her arms, gave her views on happiness: "I do not say that love cannot be found among the rich—it often is. It almost never is found among the 'idle rich,' for they know nothing of sacrifice. Love is a continual sacrifice of self for a noble purpose. To me love means only one thing—service. The woman who keeps house for husband, washes and irons her children's clothes, does all her own work—that woman knows life as no other person on earth can know it. She knows the real from the false, and she knows it never is the material pleasures that bring happiness. Pleasure, temporary, fleeting pleasure? yes; but happiness, deep, abiding happiness, no."

"Vet" Robbed and Stricken—Once Hospital Head, He Says.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 12.—Dr. Teofil Derdowski, aged 84, who said he was formerly superintendent of Bellevue hospital, New York, was picked up by the police on the charge of being drunk, but when taken to the Emergency hospital was found to be seriously sick. Dr. Derdowski said he left Bellevue hospital when the civil war broke out to serve in the army, and was a private practitioner in New York until his wife died, when he became a wanderer. He was robbed two weeks ago in Kansas City, he said, of $6,000 and of his pension papers. He was on his way to his daughter in Green Bay, Wis., when stricken with apoplexy here. The aged physician says he is entitled to a pension from Germany for the 1866 war, and that he also fought for Poland in the struggle against Russia.

KAISER'S HEIR FREES MAN.

Effects Release of Photographer Jailed for Snapping Him.

Brussels, May 12.—The German crown prince's good nature and disposition to make himself agreeable were illustrated by an incident that has just occurred. He read in his morning newspaper that a Brussels camera fiend had been sent to prison the previous day for "earning his living on a railway station," the property of the state, and annoying the German crown prince by snapshotting him on the solemn occasion of his arrival for the funeral of the king's mother, the countess of Flanders." Immediately the future emperor telegraphed to the Belgian ministry of justice that he remembered the circumstance well, that it does not annoy him in the least to be photographed; in fact, he likes it, and that if he had known the man was on trial he would have given evidence in his favor. On receipt of this message the photographer was released and sent the prince an effusive letter of thanks, accompanied by a beautifully mounted copy of the photograph which involved him in trouble.

FRENCH JUSTICE IS CHEAP.

It Costs Less Than Court Trials in This Country.

Paris, May 12.—In contrast to the large sums of money often expended by the state in America to bring notorious criminals to justice is the very small sum it has cost Paris to effect the conviction or acquittal of twenty-two men and women, the automobile bandits, who were charged with a long series of murders and robberies. This case cost the French government exactly $4,600. Of this $2,000 went for the expenses of the actual trial, court fees, witnesses' allowances, cost of serving subpenas, etc., while the rest was spent in the preliminary investigation by the judge who sifts the evidence obtained by the police and decides if a trial is justified. Of the nineteen men and three women placed on trial four were condemned to death, four were acquitted and fourteen were given various terms of imprisonment.

SAN FRANCISCO CALLED MECCA FOR "BUNCO MEN."

San Francisco, May 10.—As a result of startling confessions by a band of crooks who have made San Francisco their stamping ground for the last three years, it has been discovered that visitors and residents have handed over $300,000 to bunco men in the last three years, paying $45,000 to the police for protection.

The accompanying pictures show two bunco men looking over some of the San Francisco police in an effort to identify officers whom they charge took bribe money from them. This is the first time in the history of the police that such unusual procedure has been resorted to. Generally bunco suspects are lined up and the police look them over to identify guilty parties. The inset photo is Chief of Police White.

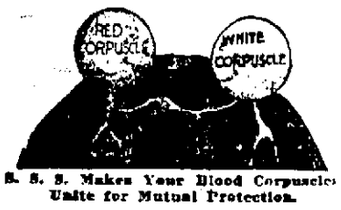
Wan, Weary and Worn Out

If You Feel Fagged to a Finish and Utterly Used Up Here is Quick Relief.



S. S. S. Makes Your Blood Corpuscles Unite for Mutual Protection.

Half the people you meet complain of weary muscles, stagnant brain, jangled nerves, and a wonderful desire to lay down and just quit. Most of these people have been using nervine that spasmodically flare up the nerves only to die down again, as die they must. Avoid nerve stimulants. Bear in mind that this worn out feeling is due to poor blood, to bacteria in the water you drink; to the multiplying of destructive germs in the blood faster than they can be overcome by the white corpuscles; and to what is known as auto-toxemia, that condition where the venous or impure blood accumulates faster than it can be replaced by the red arterial blood.

The medicinal value of the components of S. S. S. is relatively just as vital and essential to well-balanced health as those of the grains, meats, fats and sugars of our food.

If you feel played out go to any drug store and ask for a bottle of S. S. S., Swift's Sure Specific. Here is a remedy that gets at work in a twinkling; it just naturally rushes right into your blood, scatters germs right and left, up and down and sideways.

You feel better at once, not from a stimulant, not from the action of drugs, but from the rational effect of a natural medicine just as active and just as timely as to a man who has been lost in the mountains, is about starved and comes across a settler just cooking a savory meal of good honest beef. Do not neglect to get a bottle of S. S. S. to-day. It will make you feel better in just a few minutes. It is prepared only in the laboratory of The Swift Specific Co., 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. HE DOESN'T WANT BANKERS ON JOB

Lindberg Opposes Them on Currency Committee in Congress.

CITES SOME HISTORY

BY GILSON GARDNER.

Washington, May 12.—That the committees of congress which deal with the subject of banking and currency should not be made up of bankers is the demand of Representative Lindberg of Minnesota, author of a resolution which cites an interesting history on the activity in past years of bankers in controlling fiscal legislation in their own interests.

He cites a number of circulars and letters mined from the records in the congressional library. For instance, there was the Hazard circular, so-called, during the civil war period. Hazard was an agent of English money lenders who co-operated with American bankers. In his circular he said: "Slavery is likely to be abolished by the war power and all chattel slavery abolished. This I and my European friends are in favor of, for slavery is but the owning of labor and carries with it the care of the laborers, while the European plan, led by England, is that capital shall control labor by controlling wages. The great debt that the capitalists will see to it is made out of the war, must be used as a means to control the volume of money. To accomplish this the bonds must be used as a banking basis. We are now waiting for the secretary of the treasury to make this recommendation to congress. It will not do to allow the greenback, as it is called, to circulate as money any length of time, as we can not control that. But we can control the bonds and through them the bank issues."

Another circular quoted by Mr. Lindberg was issued by Jay Cooke, the fiscal agent for the government, near the close of the war, in which he said: "We lay down the proposition that our national debt, made permanent and rightly managed, will be a national blessing. The funded debt of the United States is the addition of $3,000,000,000 to the previously realized wealth of the nation. It is three thousand millions added to the actual available capital."

Mr. Lindberg's resolution also quotes from the so-called panic circular of 1893, which bears date of March 11 of that year and was mailed to bankers by the American Bankers' association, in which they are instructed that "the interest of national banks require immediate financial legislation by congress. Silver, silver certificates and treasury notes must be retired and national bank notes upon a gold basis made the only money. This will require the authorization of five hundred millions to one thousand millions of new bonds as the basis of circulation.

Sold and guaranteed by Meyer Bros.

You will at once retire one-third of your circulation and call in one-half of your loans. Be careful to make a monetary stringency among your patrons, especially among influential business men. Advocate an extra session of congress to repeal the purchasing clause of the Sherman law and act with other banks of your city in securing a large petition to congress for its unconditional repeal, per accompanying form. Use personal influence with your congressman, and particularly let your wishes be known to your senators."

Mr. Lindberg concludes by calling attention to the national monetary commission, the Aldrich organization which, as he says, in 1908, "formed a league with branches in many of the states, all of which have since been and still are actively engaged in an attempt to influence congress in favor of legislation in substance the same as that recommended by the national monetary commission, the membership of which commission was chiefly composed of bankers, their agents and attorneys."

A new draft of the seaman's bill has been indorsed by the department of commerce and the department of labor and now only awaits action by Chairman Clarke of Arkansas, of the senate committee on commerce. A majority of this committee is pledged to this new bill, which seeks to remedy the defects exposed by the Titanic disaster by providing adequate crews of experienced seamen. A mangled form of the bill was passed at the last session, but even this was vetoed by Taft.

The "net weight law," a measure passed in the closing hours of the last congress requiring all food packages to show actual weight, measure, or numerical count of contents, is being considered by the special committees of the departments of agriculture and commerce, which are preparing regulations for its enforcement and are ready to receive the usual stream of kicks from manufacturers and dealers, who anticipate, as usual, being ruined by any measure designed to protect the consuming public from fraud.

The most readable and brilliant contribution to the tariff debate is again that of William Kent of California, independent member of congress. Persons who have not read his humorous account of the great god Tariff will do well to drop Mr. Kent a line asking for a copy of his speech.

Collins Did Not Attempt to Hide His Past from Fiancee

BUT HE TOLD HER ALL

Redlands, Cal., May 12.—John Collins, convicted of the murder of his father in Topeka in 1898 and pardoned from a life sentence in the penitentiary by Governor Stubbs, has married Miss Grace Fowler, daughter of the first reader in the Christian Science church here.

The people of Redlands knew nothing of Collins when he came here to live. He was industrious, attended church regularly and soon began to prosper financially.

Then he fell in love with Miss Fowler. He told of his trial and conviction in Kansas, of his years in the penitentiary and of his struggle to forget the past. She told her father, and he gave his consent to the marriage. Mrs. Fowler did not know until afterward that her son-in-law had been in prison. But the news did not shake her faith in him.

"No, indeed, we won't go back on John," she said. "We realize what a heroic effort he has made and we'll not turn him down. He is an ideal young man; no bad habits, attends strictly to business, goes to church, wants to succeed. He's trying to live down the past and forget. No, we do not condemn him. And he and Grace are happy."

Collins tells of his ups and downs since Governor Stubbs gave him freedom three years ago.

"At first I thought I would fight it out and become established in real estate business in Topeka, my home town. But the curious-eyed disturbed me so much that I had to leave. I thought if I could come to California maybe I could find seclusion and be let alone. The first year I worked in several hotels in Los Angeles and at Winslow, Ariz. Then I was chief clerk at the Arrow Head Springs hotel. From there I came to Redlands and went into business with my father-in-law.

"I have never changed my name or have made a special effort to withdraw into seclusion. I made no effort to suppress the publication of our marriage license and we had a church wedding. This is the prettiest spot in California. I hope I won't have to leave. It seems to me that I have earned a little bit of happiness."

Health a Factor in Success.

The largest factor contributing to a man's success is undoubtedly health. It has been observed that a man is seldom sick when his bowels are regular—he is never well when they are constipated. For constipation you will find nothing quite so good as Chamberlain's Tablets. They not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion. They are sold by all dealers.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, May 12.—Wheat prices hardened today because the United States visible supply statement was expected to show a decrease. World shipments were larger than looked for. July started at 90c to 90¼c, touched 89⅞c and rose to 90¾c.

The close was easy, with July ¼@⅜c net lower at 89⅝c.

Scantiness of receipts made corn firm. July opened at 56¾c, sold at 56¼@56⅜c and then advanced to 56⅝c.

The close was easy at 56⅜c for July, a net gain of ⅛c.

Oats went higher owing to lively demand for May, which bulked more than a cent to ⅞c. July, which started at 35⅝c to 35⅞c, retached 36⅛c.

Plentiful receipts of hogs weakened provisions. First sales were unchanged to 2½c down with July $19.20 for pork, $10.75 for lard and $10.95 for ribs.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, May 12.—With early speculation so dull as to give promise of the smallest day's business of the year, traders found it difficult to attract a following on either the short or the long side by concentrating on special stocks. Some selling was caused by the falling off in certain lines of business, the spread of labor troubles and the unfavorable steel tonnage figures, published after the close Saturday, but prices soon steadied. American sugar lost two points and Beet sugar half as much. Bonds were steady.

Trading at the opening of the stock market today was the dullest for many weeks. The drift of prices was downward. Rumely and Can preferred lost a point each.

Reading and Union Pacific moved up a half point and Steel ⅜ but the buying soon stopped and the market eased off. Transactions in the first half hour were under 25,000 shares.

The market closed heavy. Bearish sentiment was increased by the steadily falling level of investment shares, many of which established new loan levels. In all there was fifteen stocks of various classes which sold at low figures for the year.

DAN CUPID BREAKS ALL RECORDS FOR MATRIMONIAL MIX-UPS IN GEORGIA.

NATHAN JONES AND THE NEWEST MISSUS JONES.

Jesup, Ga., May 12.—Never, perhaps, in the history of marriage has there been such a marital mixup as that of the Jones and Robertsons and Thomases and Driggers. Old Mr. Jones and young Mrs. Jones are trying to figure it out while they while away their honeymoon in jail on a bigamy charge.

You remember the famous matrimonial puzzle of the Pharisee lawyer in the New Testament:

The eldest of seven brothers married a wife and then died. The next brother married her, and he died. All the rest married her in succession, and all of them died. Finally the woman herself died. And the lawyer wanted to know "whose wife she would be in the kingdom of heaven."

Well, this puzzle is something like that, only worse. And if you can figure out whose wife pretty Hattie Jones is here on earth and whose husband her first mate is, and whose husband Nathan Jones is, and whose wife Nathan's first wife is, you can beat any lawyer in Wayne county.

Nathan and Hattie met for the first time a month ago. He was 60 and she was only 16. It was love at first sight and in a week they were married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Jane Robertson.

Then some meddling grand juror remembered that Nathan Jones had been married before to a girl named Driggers, and he couldn't recall any divorce or annulment. Also he seemed to remember that Hattie had been married to a man named Thomas and there wasn't any record of legal separation. So a deputy sheriff started after the bride and groom with a warrant.

Hattie and Nathan got wind of it and lit out. They didn't carry any excess baggage. They just slung a few things into a bag and old Nathan swung it over his shoulder, and off went the honeymooners from their home in Screven, dodging the deputy.

It was very easy to follow their trail, and the deputy caught them and brought them to the Wayne county jail.

"Sure, I've been married before," admitted Nathan from behind the bars. "I've been married twice that I rec'lect of. My first wife died. I lived alone on my farm several years, then married Alice Driggers.

"Next morning Alice told me that Driggers wasn't her maiden name; that she was married to a Driggers person, and he'd certainly make trouble when he found she'd up and married me, too. So I sent her away. Wouldn't you? When I met Hattie I just couldn't help marrying her."

Then Hattie, in the next cell, told her story.

"I love Nathan," she said, "and that's all that counts, isn't it? I didn't love that Thomas man that I married before. And, besides, he told me one day that he had another wife, and he bragged about the wives he'd had before he married her. So I ran away. Then Nathan came along and I married him, and I'm most dreadfully happy. Only, I wish they'd let us out of jail."
